

67 TRAPPED WHEN FRENCH SUBMARINE GOES DOWN

Craft With Crew of 56 Also Carried 17 Engineers and Other Workers of Same Rank on Trial Surface Trip.

SEVEN RESCUED AS VESSEL SINKS
Cause of Accident off Cherbourg Not Determined—Salvage Fleet Works Under Difficulties Because of Rough Sea.

By the Associated Press.
CHERBOURG, France, July 7.—The French submarine Promethee, in service only two years, sank seven miles north of Cape Livi, off Cherbourg harbor, when making a trial trip on the surface today.

Seven men were saved, but 66 went down with the ship. Among that number were 17 naval engineers and men of similar rating temporarily assigned to the submarine.

The cause of the accident was not immediately determined, but the salvage fleet swung into action immediately. Violent currents impeded its action.

The marine police of Cherbourg sent out all the vessels at their disposal. Navy planes took to the air, despite miserable flying conditions, which made the job particularly dangerous and difficult.

The Ministry of Marine issued this statement describing the disaster:

"The Promethee was making a trial on the surface. Suddenly she sank in a depth of about 25 fathoms, seven miles north of Cape Livi. The cause of the accident was not determined."

The seven who were saved were taken down into the sea from the wreckage as the Promethee went down. A fishing boat picked them up and landed them in Cherbourg.

The Promethee's crew included two officers and 10 petty officers. In today's trip the vessel carried in addition to the normal complement one marine engineer, two technicians, seven workers from the local arsenal, two experts and the workmen from the Schneider firms.

The Promethee is one of a class of 134 tons surface displacement, 175 feet long with a 30-foot beam, 23 feet deep, and a draft of 10 feet. She has one 27-millimeter gun, one machine gun, eleven 21.7-inch torpedo tubes, including two sets of revolving tubes, one fore and one aft.

The type was not particularly successful on trials, but two of the Promethee's sister ships, Vengeance and Redoubtable, made a cruise to the West Indies in 1930 without mishap.

GOES TO HOSPITAL IN PLANE
Boy, 14, Injured in Automobile Wreck.

By the Associated Press.
ROCHESTER, Minn., July 7.—An airplane brought Walter S. Gifford, 14 years old, from Brookings, S. D., today for treatment of injuries suffered Tuesday when his automobile he was driving was wrecked, killing Edwin Carter, 22, son of E. F. Carter, vice-president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Gifford, whose left arm was crushed, was accompanied by his father, W. S. Gifford, of New York, president of the same company, and two Mayo clinic physicians who hurried to Brookings Tuesday night at the request of Gifford. Gifford's condition was reported satisfactory. He and his companions were en route from New York to Alaska on a pleasure trip.

MAYOR CALLS CONFERENCE DECLARING BOND ISSUE ONLY WAY TO GET RELIEF FUNDS

Invites 200 Business Men and Heads of Civic Organizations to Meet With Him Tomorrow.

Mayor Miller today joined other city officials in advocating a bond issue as the only way to raise relief funds. He made the announcement in planning a conference to be held tomorrow to which he has invited 200 business men and heads of civic organizations to discuss relief measures.

The Mayor said he had not made up his mind how large a bond issue would be needed, but that he was satisfied funds would have to come from that source because "the special tax bills pending in the Board of Aldermen seem to have little chance of passage."

Letters sent to those invited to tomorrow's meeting told of the crisis in the relief situation and urged attendance at the meeting at which problems of vital concern to St. Louis were to be considered.

The Mayor called the meeting after a delegation headed by Aaron Rau, representing Citizens' Committee, visited his office yesterday. Members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and the Aldermen are to be present.

Rau's delegation presented a letter from Tom K. Smith, chairman of the relief committee, which suggested such a conference so that

St. Louisans might be prepared, rather than surprised, "should the worst come to the worst."

The letter referred to the increasing seriousness of the failure of relief operations, and said sponsors of bond issue proposals have shown by these suggestions that they "realize the measure of our danger in not fully satisfying relief needs."

A requisition for 7000 pounds of flour and 5000 pounds of cracked wheat porridge was sent to the American Red Cross national headquarters last night in behalf of Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment.

The flour and porridge will be given by relief agencies of Citizens' Committee to families now being abandoned for lack of funds. This additional allotment was requisitioned after President Hoover had signed the congressional resolution which made available to the Red Cross 45,000,000 more bushels of wheat from Farm Board holdings.

The relief committee, lacking more than $1,000,000 of what it would need to carry on in full operation until Jan. 1, has accepted no new applications since June 15, has dropped 8000 of the 25,000 families which were receiving help, and plans to abandon 5000 more next week.

They had full tanks when they took off from Berlin at 2 p. m. (St. Louis time) yesterday. That was approximately 600 gallons, enough to keep them in the air 21 hours.

Early this morning when the normal flying time between the two points had elapsed officials sent out inquiries to all the main points on the route which the flyers were to have followed. The effort was unproductive.

At the airport mechanics and others remained on duty all night and all day, but anxiety was increasing.

Reports received here said the weather was favorable all along the route and experts said they believed the flyers either were forced down or passed Moscow in the night. The latter alternative they considered not very probable.

There was a possibility that the "Century of Progress" might have come down between Berlin and Moscow. On the other hand, it was possible that Mattern and Griffin passed over Moscow in the night and drove on east toward Omsk, 1600 miles farther along their route.

They had no fuel depot at Moscow because the quality obtainable there was not satisfactory. There is, however, a supply awaiting them at Omsk.

At 140 miles an hour, the approximate speed they made from Harbor Grace to Berlin, they would have reached Omsk some time in the forenoon today, assuming they were still in the air. Communication with Omsk is not of the best.

The Kanan Airport, about three hours' flying time east of Moscow, is one of the points which reported no sign of the "Century of Progress." Kanan is on the way to Omsk.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, July 7.—German air police at Tempelhof Airfield here were worried this morning when no reports had been received up to 9 a. m. from the round-the-world flyers, James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, since they took off for Moscow yesterday evening.

The only word of them was a belated dispatch from Koenigsberg this morning which said they had crossed the German frontier into Poland at 12:02 a. m. They were sighted over Lake Wyszty, near Hegelingen.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, July 7.—James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, missing between Berlin and Moscow on their round-the-world flight, were still unreported at 11 a. m., St. Louis time, today.

If they were still in the air at that time they had to come down, wherever they were, for that was the time beyond which the fuel they took aboard at Berlin would be exhausted.

The newspaper Zwölf Uhr Blatt said this morning its reports indicated the flyers faced unfavorable weather, with thunderstorms and rainstorms over Russia.

The sun had already set when they left here at 3 p. m. (3 p. m. St. Louis time) last night and the reports then indicated good weather for the 950-mile trip. Both were in excellent spirits and said they were not tired after their long journey from America. When they took off here the flyers were nearly 11 hours ahead of the record made by Post and Gatty.

BANTER OVER BEER IN SENATE BUT NO ACTION

Republicans Ask Democrats Why They Don't Start to Redeem Platform Pledge at Once.

GLENN AND BINGHAM OFFER THEIR HELP

Borah, Glass and Ashurst Join in With Sharp Retorts — Beer Vote Petition to Garner.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—With two or more Senators often talking at once and Vice President Curtis rapping vigorously for order, a sharp prohibition debate filled with wisecracks broke out today in the Senate.

Democrats were baited by wet Republicans who inquired when and exactly how they proposed to carry out the repeal and beer plank adopted by their party at Chicago.

In the sharp retort two Democratic Senators—Ashurst of Arizona and Glass of Virginia—made it plain that, while their platform declares for immediate modification of the Volstead act to permit non-intoxicating beer, the question of what alcoholic content constitutes an intoxicant will have to be settled to their satisfaction first.

Ashurst and Glenn, Democrats, told the Senate the Democrats could not carry out their prohibition repeal plank until they had a majority in Congress.

His statement came in answer to a question from Senator Glenn (Rep.), Illinois, an anti-prohibitionist, after Ashurst had asked that attempts to add beer and farm relief riders to the home loan banking bill be dropped.

Glenn promptly read the Democratic prohibition plank and asked: "Where is your party's proposal to do and when to carry out this plank?"

Ashurst retorted: "The first thing it proposes to do is to do up the Republican party," adding that "until the Democrats have a majority there is no use to try."

Borah joins in.

Glenn shot back that some of the Republicans were ready to join in putting it over, asserting that their votes and the Democratic tallies would pass it.

Senator Borah, in the laughter that followed this exchange, asked Glenn: "Does the Republican party plan to furnish the votes to carry out the Democratic platform?"

Glenn replied that there was precedent for Republicans voting with the Democrats, referring to the independents' breaks from Republican ranks.

Borah retailed with the assertion that "the only time you do this is when you are in a minority."

Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, said "the Democratic platform did not require any Democratic Senator to agree to the nonsense of attaching a beer or a near-beer bill to the home loan bank bill."

Ashurst introduced a proposed constitutional amendment providing that amendments to the Constitution be ratified by direct vote of the people in three-fourths of the states, rather than by Legislatures or conventions.

Glenn replied that he offered more than 10 years ago and saw beaten in the Senate.

Lewis Adds Froth.

During the debate, Senator Lewis (Dem.), Illinois, asked Ashurst if he were trying to "exclude the froth from this discussion."

"I don't think it is possible to exclude the froth from any parliamentary body," Ashurst replied.

Questioned by Senator Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut, sponsor of the beer amendment which was not yet before the Senate for debate, Ashurst said:

"I stand for the Democratic platform without equivocation or hesitation."

"I do not believe any Democrat anywhere," he added, "will seek through evasion or double dealing to dodge the plain specific declaration of the platform. But the Democrats will reserve for themselves to say what would be the appropriate time to carry out that platform."

"Don't Stand Any Too Well."

Ashurst brought many a chuckle from colleagues when he added that bottling a platform was not wise because:

Fake C. O. D. Orders for Bibles From Deceased and Often Collect in Chicago.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 7.—A new form of racketeering in which the racketeers prey upon surviving relatives of the dead was disclosed today by the Chicago Better Business Bureau.

Gordon Smith of the bureau said the racketeers obtain the names of dead from obituary notices and then hasten to the home of the deceased, announcing they have a package for the dead person.

Told of the death, they explain the dead individual had ordered a Bible from them. The victims, Smith said, frequently accept the book and pay an exorbitant c. o. d. charge—sometimes from $3 to $5 more than the Bible is worth.

DECREASE IN BANK CLOSINGS
Only Seven in U. S. First Five and Half Days of July.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 7.—Banks throughout the country this week reflected the relief brought by the passage of June, critical month in banking operations. Rand-McNally & Co. reported today. Only seven bank closings in the United States took place the first five and one-half days of July, as compared with 19 the last two days of June included in the present week.

Closings for the week were 37.5 per cent under the previous week, and total closings for June were 15 per cent under the number for June, 1931.

La Guardia Says Latter's Bank Got $80,000,000 Loan—Rainey Declares Hoover Statement 'Bristles With Errors.'

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—The conference report on the Garner-Wagner relief bill, containing a provision which President Hoover has indicated will lead to a veto, was adopted today by the House.

The vote to adopt the report was 202 to 157, with Republican lines breaking.

Thirty-five Republicans and the one Farmer-Labor member joined 166 Democrats in voting for the bill. Two Democrats and 155 Republicans voted against it. Cochran (Dem.) of St. Louis voted for the bill and Dyer and Niedringhaus, Republicans, against it.

The report now goes to the Senate, where Republican leaders plan to expedite action so that, in the event of a veto, a new measure can be worked out quickly to permit adjournment of Congress.

Mr. Hoover opposed the provision sponsored by Speaker Garner to authorize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make loans to all persons or adequate security. The bill increases the capital of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation from two billion dollars to $3,800,000,000 and provides a $322,000,000 highway and building construction program.

The conference reported a $2,122,000,000 measure, including the provision that loans may be made to all persons having adequate security.

President Hoover is opposed to the provision and has strongly indicated he would veto the measure if it was retained.

"Earmarks of Mills."

Speaker Garner told newspapermen President Hoover's statement yesterday "had all the earmarks of a product of Secretary Mills."

"There are 4000 banks who have received benefits from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation who oppose this bill," Garner said. "They don't want competition and they won't loan money."

Opening the House discussion, Representative Crisp (Dem.), Georgia, said: "There are many things in this bill I do not personally like, but something has to be done in this crisis. I believe this bill will go a long way toward furnishing relief for those in need and giving employment. People in this country will not and shall not be permitted to starve."

"Bunkum and Demagoguery."

Leading the opposition to the measure in the House, Representative Treadway (Rep.), Massachusetts, said: "The worst type of political bunkum and demagoguery is any effort to align the masses against the classes. I am proud to think that in this free country of ours there is no distinction under the Constitution or laws on account of race, creed or political affiliation."

"If any member on this floor questions the sincere desire of the President or any other official of the Government or any citizen to relieve the present distress among the people of the United States, he, of course, is seeking red."

SO FAMILIES FIND HAVEN ON 'DUMP' ON RIVER FRONT

They Live in Tents and Shacks Among Ashes,
Tin Cans and Fumes of Burning Rubbish.

DIG THEIR LIVING FROM REFUSE

Persons Refused More Help
by Agencies Ask for Last
$5 to Build 'Home' in Colony.

Several hundred acres of desolation along the Mississippi River front to North St. Louis as "The Dump" are affording a haven for more families, black and white, who can find no place for themselves in the city.

Relief workers going about now from home to home telling those who have been helped that they no longer be assisted not in any longer this final appeal.

Well, give us another $5 at least, and with that we can build a shack "The Dump."

Such requests are refused, for conditions on "The Dump" are bad. Ashes and tin cans underfoot, in the air the rancid fumes of burning rubbish.

Constantly about rank growths of weeds, all about rank growths of weeds.

This stretch of bottom land along the river bank for a mile or more north of the foot of Grand boulevard yields up a precarious existence to those who crowd about in the rubbish heaps, salvaging bits of glass, rags, paper and iron.

A World All Its Own.

It is a little world all its own, where those on the lower rung of the "dump monkey" in the language of the rubbish district—may aspire to the rank of "keeper of the dump." Keepers may work for the agency which would permit them to move away, or they may be content with nearer, more substantial shacks and a bit of garden in the back black soil.

"Dump monkeys" are engaged by leaders of the dumping concession to level off the rubbish piles, and are compensated by being permitted to salvage whatever is worth anything.

Keepers are in charge, and collect fees for each load dumped there.

Apart from these, but akin to them, are the knights of the road, the frequent "jungle" at the river's edge. Near the winding river stalks to rough shelters strewn up by hoboes who have pitched in to other parts, and are improved by many tin cans, and there are tin cans for settling the muddy river water and fireplaces where food is cooked and clothes "boiled out."

Shorty is a "dump monkey." He used to work in a box factory, but lost his job, and for the past several years he has been on the dump. He bales old paper and rags in a cast-off trunk with the top and bottom knocked out. He gets 15 cents for each 100 pounds of paper and 25 cents for the rags. He picks up scrap iron and sells it for 5 cents a hundred-weight.

When the glass plants are working and now they are not, he breaks up bottles and sells them for 25 cents a hundred pounds.

Keeps Up His Insurance.

In the past two weeks Shorty's income of $2.50. He made two weekly payments of $1 each on his $1000 life insurance policy and had 60 cents left for food. Sometimes he is able to salvage a bit of food from the dump, but the Health Department frowns on this and keeps pretty close watch. The insurance, Shorty says, will go "to the old lady who carried him over."

An elderly couple who made room for him in their shack on the dump when his own family broke with them.

The keeper of Shorty's dump is about $5 a week. He gets 15 cents every time a light truckload is dumped there, and 25 cents for each ton. But this dump, 75 by 100 feet, is just about filled up. Shorty's boss has his eye on the dump by 150 not far away. To get the job of keeper of that dump, however, would cost him $200, and he is not hopeful.

Across from Shorty's dump is a shack in which lives a family of four—the parents and four children ranging in age from 8 to 17. They used to work in the nearby elevator, but they installed machinery there several years ago which took his job away from him. He hauls rubbish to the dump on his old truck and so picks up $4.18 a week.

One family belongs to the Church of the Lady of Perpetual Help, and the priest there helped them in arranging for a packing house to supply them with meat. Until recently it was two pounds of neck every other day. Now it comes once a week.

Family of Nine Children.

A few yards away there is a family of nine children, and a relief association is giving them a couple of dollars each week for food. The mother comes from what they can earn on the dump.

Half a mile or so to the east there is a colony of four men, two of them keepers of small dumps. One of them "dump monkeys." The other are a father and son, the one

"Times and conditions" being what they are, the son wants to shoot himself, the police were in possession of a letter that cast a murder and suicide complexion on the case.

The letter, addressed to her brother and written just before she invaded Jurgens' hotel room yesterday and shot him twice, blamed Kiki Jurgens, Cub outfielder, and Lew Steadman for breaking up her romance. She advised her brother, Mike Popovich, a Chicago T. M. C. A. employee, that she planned to kill Jurgens and herself.

"To me life without Billy isn't worth living," the letter read in part, "but why should I leave this earth alone. I'm going to take Billy with me. We were getting along famously, just as everything should go, but a few people like Kiki Cuyler and Lew Steadman forced there might be anything fine and beautiful in our love for each other and dragged it in the mud. I know what I'm doing is best for me and I hate to do it, but I'll do it."

Cuyler denied he had interfered with the romance except to admit that Jurgens asked his advice and that he told him he was "too young to think of love."

Neither the girl nor Jurgens is in a serious condition. Jurgens suffered two wounds, one bullet entering his right side, grazing a rib and piercing the right shoulder and the other ripping the flesh around the little finger of his left hand. Miss Vall was shot in the left hand.

Dr. John Davis, Cub physician, who happened to be in the Hotel Carlos lobby when the shooting occurred, said Jurgens would be able to play baseball within three or four weeks unless complications set in.

ROMANCE RUINED, SAYS WOMAN WHO SHOT BALL PLAYER

Letter to Her Brother Declares Other Persons Interfered With Affair With Bill Jurgens.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 7.—Manager Rogers Hornsby and his Chicago Cubs carried on their National League pennant fight today without the services of their star young shortstop, Bill Jurgens, while the police investigated the events that caused Miss Violet Popovich to shoot and wound him and herself.

Although Miss Popovich, a divorcee and former chorus girl, insisted that she intended only to shoot herself, the police were in possession of a letter that cast a murder and suicide complexion on the case.

Funeral services for Paul J. Bulla, a South St. Louis building contractor who died Tuesday of an illness induced by a nervous breakdown, will be conducted tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Stephen's Church, Holy Hills. Burial will take place in St. Peter and Paul's Cemetery.

Mr. Bulla, who was 35 years old and lived at 2520 Leavenworth, is survived by his mother and a sister.

Three Hurt in Storm.

NORTH VERNON, Ind., July 7. Three persons were injured and considerable property was damaged by a storm in this vicinity this afternoon. The business district of Vernon, the county seat near there, was directly in the storm path. Tops of Main street buildings were torn off.

BARS GOVERNOR'S PORTRAIT WITH HIS HANDS IN POCKET

Massachusetts Art Commission Said to Consider Pose Undignified.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, July 7.—A portrait of former Gov. Frank G. Allen, intended to hang in the State House beside those of his predecessors, has failed to receive the approval of the State Art Commission, presumably because it portrays him with his hands in his pockets. It is the work of H. L. Wolff, New York artist.

The painting has been approved by Gov. Joseph B. Ely and members of the Executive Council, nearly all of whom had been associated with Allen. The State law provides that portraits of Governors to be placed in the State House must be approved by the Art Commission.

Although the commission has not made public its reasons for opposing the portrait, it was said at the State House that it believed the hands in the pockets were not in keeping with the dignity of chief executives of the commonwealth.

A hearing will be held before the council to discuss the differences.

MOTORIST HURT WHEN AUTO IS STRUCK BY STREET CAR

Collision at Twelfth and Washington; Two Others Injured.

Lawrence G. Zalvater, 27 years old, a Filipino, suffered fractures of the skull and ribs when an automobile in which he was riding with several companions was struck by a Page line street car at Twelfth boulevard and Washington avenue at 6:30 p. m. yesterday. Zalvater, who lives at 3229 Olive street, is at City Hospital.

Mrs. Mollie Heller, 60, 3223 Vine avenue, suffered a fractured skull when she was hit by a service car at Twelfth street and Clark avenue yesterday afternoon. The driver, James Bacot, 1114A Cass avenue, told police she stepped from a safety zone into the path of his machine.

Harrison W. Pawly, 80, a resident at the Memorial Home, 2609 South Grand boulevard, was struck by a street car while crossing Grand boulevard near the home at 7 o'clock last night. He suffered lacerations of the tongue and face.

MISSOURI SADDLE HORSE TO BE GIVEN ROOSEVELT

C. P. Cauthorn, Mexico, Democratic Candidate for Secretary of State, Makes Announcement.

MOBERLY, Mo., July 7.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, will be presented with one of Missouri's finest saddle horses by C. P. Cauthorn, Mexico, Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, in behalf of Democratic horsemen of Missouri.

Cauthorn announced here today, after conference with Charles W. Grn, Missouri horse judge.

Cauthorn said a number of Missouri horse lovers had offered to buy one of the finest horses in the State for him, as an aid in his campaign, and that he desired to pass this honor on to Roosevelt as a tribute and compliment from the horsemen of Missouri.

Cauthorn has been one of the governors of the American Royal at Kansas City for several years. Roosevelt is a lover of horses and fond of horseback riding. It is his principal recreation and exercise other than swimming.

KILLS DAUGHTER AND HIMSELF

Tragedy at Clarksville, W. Va., Follows Girl's Disobedience.

By the Associated Press.

CLARKSVILLE, W. Va., July 7.—Harrison Smith, 39 years old, shot and killed his daughter, Estell, 18, as she slept early today and then killed himself.

Police were told a quarrel between father and daughter was the cause of the shooting. Smith, who had been extremely devoted to the girl, objected to her going on a walk with a neighboring couple but she went despite his wishes.

TWO MEN KILLED BY GUNMEN IN CHICAGO RESORT

Henchmen of 'Spike' O'Donnell Shot to Death and Waiter Seriously Wounded in Roadhouse.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 7.—Two men were shot to death and a third wounded last night in what police described as a revival of gang strife for control of the South Side beer trade.

James "Red" McGee, a former policeman, and Vernie Larkin, reputed henchmen of Edward "Spike" O'Donnell, were killed.

Two gunmen invaded the Del Rio roadhouse, operated by McGee, and killed McGee and Larkin with shotguns. A third man, George Vanderklaw, a waiter, was seriously wounded in trying to get out of the line of fire.

The killers escaped in an automobile and the police failed to obtain a good description of them from witnesses.

Trouble on the South Side, after a period of quiet, opened up again a few weeks ago when Charles O'Donnell, a brother of "Spike," was killed by machine gun bullets. A few days later Gus Pacelli was killed in a resort operated by opponents of the O'Donnell crowd.

Police said last night's killings may have been in retaliation for Pacelli's death. Larkin was once a bodyguard for O'Donnell.

The Del Rio was formerly operated by "Buck" Weaver, former Chicago baseball player. In one room of the resort the police said they found a bar and a supply of liquor.

Less than 24 hours before he died McGee told his wife he feared assassination. The police said cards found in his desk indicated he was an agent for a cemetery workers' union, and suggested the possibility labor trouble may have been involved.

Man Found Shot Dead at Roadside Near Belvidere, Ill.

By the Associated Press.

BELVIDERE, Ill., July 7.—An unidentified man was found shot to death on a roadside near here yesterday, two bullets through his head. All marks of identification had been removed from his clothing. Near the body lay a milk bottle partly filled with wine and two handkerchiefs, one evidently a woman's.

Coroner Floyd Atkins of Boone County said he thought the man had been killed Tuesday night at some distant place and carried to where the body was found. He suggested a liquor feud as the reason for the killing.

Man's Body Taken From River.

The body of a man, which apparently had been in the water several months, was recovered from the Mississippi River at Warsaw street yesterday. The body is that of a man of undetermined age, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds. The clothing included dark trousers and black shoes. The body is at the Morgue.

OLYMPIC ATHLETE GETS A DIVORCE

Mrs. Beatrice von Tromp Asks Court for Leniency; Has Four Children.

By the Associated Press.

Mrs. Beatrice von Tromp, former operator of a "residential club" at 4523 Lindell boulevard, pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Paris today to using the mails to defraud in connection with the deposit of 12 drafts, for $718.77, in the Girard Trust Co. of Philadelphia. Sentence was deferred until Sept. 14 on the plea of her lawyer for leniency and the court directed the probation officer to look into the case.

The offense was an error which Mrs. von Tromp, who resides in St. Louis County, now regrets, the attorney declared. The drafts had been prepared for mailing originally by the Bank of Maplowood & Trust Co. of New York, but failed to arrive. Instead, they turned up on May 28, 1931, in a registered letter from St. Louis at the Philadelphia bank. Mrs. von Tromp was arrested last December when newspapers she sent to the Philadelphia depository were traced. She told authorities she found the drafts under the cover of a place of furniture in her home. She had attempted to draw on an account in which they were deposited at Philadelphia.

Mrs. von Tromp has been married three times, her counsel told the court. She has two daughters, 18 and 19 years old, by the first marriage, who have part-time work as stenographers, and a son of 10 and a daughter of 7 by the second marriage, whose father resides in Paris and has offered no support for seven years, the lawyer said. Her present husband is unemployed. Mrs. von Tromp was disappointed of her boarding house on Jan. 18.

Four Convicted in Cuban Plot.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, July 7.—Four persons, one of them a woman, were found guilty by a military court today of complicity in a bomb planting along the route of President Machado's automobile recently, and sentenced to 14 years each in prison. The decision is subject, however, to the approval of the President, his chief of staff and Secretary of State.

GIRL, 8, SENDS FALSE ALARM

Firemen Lecture Her and Turn Her Over to Mother.

After responding to a false alarm sent in from Frairie avenue and Hebert street yesterday firemen learned that the alarm was turned in by an eight-year-old girl. The firemen lectured the youthful offender, then turned her over to her mother for disciplinary action.

CHARGED WITH MURDER IN ROADSIDE STABBING

Youth, 19, Who Surrendered,
Says He Attacked Man in Self-Defense.

Floyd Allen, 19 years old, 1533 North Sixteenth street, who surrendered to Sheriff Lill at Clayton yesterday after a coroner's jury had named him as the slayer of Howard Riley, 22, 1214 North Market street, in a fight on a St. Louis County road early Sunday, is held in Clayton jail on a charge of first degree murder.

Officers said Allen signed a statement in which he said he cut Riley with a pocketknife in self-defense when Riley advanced toward him with an automobile crank.

Allen said he and Arnold Woods, 1411 Warren street, were walking down the road, "singing and cutting up" after attending a dance in Jennings when four men passed in an automobile and cursed them. "I told them to go to hell," he related, "and they stopped and backed up. The driver got out with a crank handle and came at me. I saw I didn't have a chance so I said, 'What's the use of fighting? That's a lot of nonsense.'"

"I had opened my knife and the one with the crank practically ran into it and then fell down. Two of the others got me down and were kicking and choking me. One of them was standing over me and I cut him on the leg."

The three picked up their companion and Allen went to the home of a friend, washed and went to East St. Louis, he said. He said he did not learn that Riley had died until Monday or Tuesday and that he then went to see an attorney who advised him to surrender. Woods, he said, had no part in the fight. None of the four occupants of the automobile was known to Allen, he said.

The man who was cut on the leg was Vernon Riley, brother of the slain man. He is recovering at City Hospital. He said the attack on his brother was without provocation.

Allen's face was bruised and his left eye discolored. He said he had been struck with the crank.

His preliminary hearing on the murder charge is set for tomorrow before Justice of the Peace Opepts of Jennings.

SHOT DRIVING HIS AUTO
Chicago Race Tip Sheet Publisher Says He Had Been Threatened.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 7.—Arthur Gould, publisher of a small race selection sheet, was shot and seriously wounded today as he drove his automobile along fashionable Lake Shore drive near Surf street. At the hospital, where he was taken for an emergency operation in an attempt to save his life, Gould told the police that two men drove alongside his car and opened fire without warning. Two weeks ago, he said, he was approached by two men, who threatened to "get him" if he didn't stop publication of his sheet or consolidate with them.

SHE NAMED BORAH FOR DRY PRESIDENT

Miss Ethel Hubler of Los Angeles, editor and publisher of the official organ of the Prohibition party, who made speech at Indianapolis convention placing Idaho Senator in nomination for head of national ticket.

UPSHAW WILL RUN FOR PRESIDENT ON PROHIBITION SLATE

Ex-Congressman Agrees
Unless Borah or Other
Dry Leader Heads Third Party Movement.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 7.—William D. Upshaw, former Democratic Representative in Congress from Georgia, was nominated for the presidency by the Prohibition party's national convention today. Two ballots were taken.

Upshaw announced he would withdraw if United States Senator William E. Borah (Rep.), Idaho, or some other outstanding dry leader agreed later to head a third party movement. Upshaw received 74 votes on the second ballot; Frank S. Regan, Rockford, Ill., 62; Harley W. Kidder, Barre, Vt., 2; and Del. Leigh Colvin, New York, 2.

Immediately afterward Regan was nominated candidate for the vice-presidency by acclamation. This action followed the withdrawal of the name of Borah who, convention leaders said, preferred to await action by a large dry convention next week.

Statement by Borah.
With the convention apparently ready to nominate him, leaders last night talked with Borah by telephone and then issued the following statement:

"The Senator greatly appreciates the compliment which the convention confers upon him in its willingness to nominate him for the presidency. He advises, however, that the convention do not make such nomination as such a call should come, if at all, from a great united uprising of the people to be expressed at a subsequent convention representing the united moral forces of the nation."

The reference was to a meeting of the National Prohibition Board of Strategy and the National Conference of Organizations Supporting the Eighteenth Amendment to be held at Washington. These include representatives of all major dry organizations.

Borah's name had been presented to the convention and an enthusiastic ovation followed. Convention leaders hurriedly consulted Borah by telephone, anxious not to embarrass him or hamper the efforts of leaders of other dry organizations to draw him into the presidential field. Their statement followed.

Miss Ethel Hubler of California, who offered Borah's name to the convention, described him as a man "who is a radical dry at all times and under all circumstances, a man who is personally something of an ascetic, who does not smoke, drink, chew or play cards, a man whose election to the presidency would sound the death knell of the liquor traffic and all forms of political cowardice."

Summary of Platform.
Before last night's session of the convention, a platform was adopted which included a declaration for American adherence to the world court. Borah has long been an opponent of such action. The prohibition plank opposes the repeal or weakening of the eighteenth amendment, and condemns the Republican and Democratic parties for "their present determination to repeal that amendment on the excuse that it cannot be enforced."

Another plank advocates the "purchase by the Government of the levally issued bonds of states and sub-divisions thereof . . . paying therefor by the issue of legal ten-year Treasury notes . . . such bonds to be gradually retired by repayment to the Government."

Another plank recommends the creation of an economic council for the consideration of such measures as regulation of the stock exchange and boards of trade; stabilization of wage schedules and hours of labor; revision of tariff schedules; revision of the banking system; development of an economic plan to stabilize industry; relief of destitute governmental unemployment and other insurance; revaluation of all utilities, transportation systems and basic industries and other related measures "designed to assure economic security."

NEW NORTH-SOUTH STREET PLANNED IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Half-Mile of Paving Requested as First Step Toward State Aid Route.

Paving of a half-mile stretch of Twenty-sixth street in East St. Louis, from Bond to Missouri avenue, was requested by the East St. Louis City Council last night as the first step in the proposed establishment by the St. Clair County Highway Department of State Aid Route No. 10, which will provide a new north-and-south artery through the city.

The Council approved plans for the highway, which will follow Nineteenth street from the southern city limits to Bond avenue, Bond to Twenty-sixth, Twenty-sixth to St. Clair avenue, St. Clair to Twenty-fifth, Twenty-fifth to Caseyville avenue and thence to the northeastern city limits. Contract for paving Bond avenue as a part of State Route No. 10 will be let soon.

Hit-and-Run Killed by Lightning.

COURT APPROVES SURETY BOND OF HANDLAN-BUCK RECEIVERS

D. E. Blair and N. W. McLeod Take Charge Pending Plea to Set Aside Appointment.
Circuit Judge Norton has approved the $500,000 surety bond required of the joint receivers appointed for the Handlan-Buck Manufacturing Co., dealers in railway equipment, and the receivers have taken charge of the business pending action on a motion filed by the company and two of its officers, A. H. and E. R. Handlan, to set aside the appointment.

Judge Norton yesterday appointed William E. Caulfield, Benoit Carton and Arthur S. Partridge as appraisers to aid the receivers, David E. Blair and Nelson W. McLeod, in making an inventory of the property of the company. The receivers are to serve while the court is determining a plea for an accounting against the two Handlans sought by two of their sisters and a niece, who are stockholders. The defense contended the receivership was not necessary, as the company has a liquid surplus in excess of $400,000.

HANGS SELF IN JAIL CELL

STABBED IN BACK AFTER PARTY BY MAN HE HAD BEFRIENDED

Floyd Nesbitt, a printer, 33 years old, living at the Arlington Hotel, 715 Pine street, was taken to City Hospital at 8 a. m. today suffering from severe stab wounds of the back and left arm. His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Nesbitt, and a friend, Russell McBurney, of the Lafayette Hotel, 833½ Chestnut street, who were with Nesbitt at Eighth and Pine streets, said he had been stabbed by an acquaintance from Kansas City, Mo., whom he had befriended. Police learned that the stabbing occurred after a party in McBurney's hotel room and that Nesbitt's assailant, after stabbing him, had taken off a blood-stained shirt, entered a taxicab and gone to East St. Louis.

ACCUSED OF BURNING AUTO

Ira Goodpasture, a plasterer 1515A Vall place, is being held by police of the Wyoming Street District in connection with the burning of an automobile belonging to his estranged wife, Mrs. Lena Goodpasture. The machine was found destroyed by fire at 18th and Kosciusko street Monday evening. Goodpasture, according to police, admitted taking the automobile from a parking place, but said he had planned only to hide it, in order to effect a reconciliation. He told police the machine caught fire accidentally after he had gone to get gasoline for it.

CAUGHT AFTER ABDUCTING GIRL
Man Overtaken by Police After Fleeing Into Ohio Hills.
By the Associated Press.
BATAVIA, O., July 7.—After abducting a 17-year-old girl and fleeing into the hills with her, James Bowman, 25, was captured yesterday by a posse of 30 men headed by Sheriff Robert Roberts and placed in jail here. The girl had not been harmed.
Bowman, who came here from Harlan County, Kentucky, abducted the girl, Irene Bannell of Cumberland Gap, Tenn., after threatening to kill her and a cousin with a shotgun when she refused to leave with him, Roberts was told. The cousin is George Moore, at whose farm, four miles southeast of Batavia, the abduction occurred.

WOMAN THWARTS BAKERY ROBBERY; TWO MEN ESCAPE

Clerk, Covered With Two Pistols, Runs When Ordered to Open Door to Cashier's Cage.

Refusing to open a door with an electric lock, Miss Barbara Heger, information clerk at the Papendick Bakery Co., 2107 Des Moines street, prevented two robbers from entering the cashier's cage yesterday afternoon. The men fled without taking anything.

Miss Heger, who lives at 1922A East Warner avenue, was at her desk adjoining the cashier's cage when the robbers entered the lobby at 4:45 p. m. Both were masked and armed.

Stepping to the window at Miss Heger's desk, and covering her with a pistol, one demanded "open the door, sister!" Instead of touching the button to open the door, Miss Heger left her chair at the window and ran to a far corner of the office to get out of range.

The robbers turned and ran, bumping into Lester Warmb, a salesman for the company, who was entering as they fled. Warmb followed them to an alley nearby but they escaped. Police later found the masks in the alley. Both robbers were described as youths.

John Schroeder, sales manager for the company, was held up last Jan. 18 as he was about to enter the Bremen Bank to make a deposit. Two robbers made him drive to O'Fallon Park, where he was robbed of $650.

Insurance Collector Beaten on Head, Robbed of $35.
James Garvey, an insurance collector of 4111V Lexington avenue, was beaten on the head by a Negro who robbed him of $35 late yesterday. Garvey had just made a collection in the rear of 1211 North Tenth street and was returning to the street through a hallway when the robber struck him with a club.

Theft of $258 was reported by William J. Pfeiffer, a druggist of 1309 Hochmont avenue, who said the money had been taken from a box on a counter in the rear of the store. He told police he suspected a young man who entered the store shortly before noon and went to the telephone booth while Pfeiffer was talking to a customer.

When Earl Forrier returned to his room at 4449 Lindell boulevard, rear, yesterday evening he saw a bed sheet hanging from his second-floor bedroom and discovered $5.40 and clothing valued at $75 had been stolen from the room. The burglar apparently entered the room with a pass-key and then escaped to the alley by the sheet.

EXTORTION PLOT AGAINST MAN WHOSE DAUGHTER WAS SLAIN
CAMDEN, N. J., July 7.—John O. Wilson, Moorestown attorney whose daughter was murdered three years ago, was disclosed by police yesterday as the intended victim of extortionists who threatened to kidnap and kill him unless he paid $10,000.

Two men, whose names police refused to divulge, were being detained for questioning in the case. Wilson told police he received a threatening letter at his office Tuesday.

On June 1, 1929, Wilson found his daughter, Ruth, dead in her bed, with the body of Horace Roberts Jr. of Moorestown, lying nearby. Both had been shot through the head. Both had been engaged, but the engagement had been broken by the girl several weeks before the tragedy. A coroner's jury returned a verdict that Roberts had killed the girl and then shot himself. Miss Wilson was 25 years old and Roberts 28.

NAMED TO BIRD TREATY BOARD
Secretary Hyde Appoints Minnesota Farmer.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—Secretary Hyde has named Sam G. Anderson, Hutchinson, Minn., farmer and sportsman, as the nineteenth member of the Advisory Board for the migratory bird treaty act. It was announced Anderson's appointment was in keeping with the desire to make the membership as widely representative as possible of all interests and geographical locations. The farmer, Secretary Hyde said, has a big stake in orderly supervision of wild life and his welfare should be considered along with that of the sportsman and the game conservationist. The board will meet here Friday to discuss shooting seasons, bag limits and breeding conditions on each side of the international line. It will be the second meeting since the board was reorganized last spring.

Woman and Brother Shot.
By the Associated Press.
LAWRENCE, Kan., July 7.—Mrs. George Taylor, 32 years old, and her brother, Everett Christensen, 25, were shot and wounded last night by an assailant whom they identified as police as George Taylor, estranged husband of the woman. Christensen and Mrs. Taylor, who recently filed suit for divorce, and the shooting occurred after a quarrel over possession of the Taylors' four children.

Don't
KILL THEM

YOU might just as well tease an elephant with a shotgun as to go after flies with weak methods. If you want to see flies drop dead—spray the air full of fine, clean Black Flag mist. The wonderful substance in Black Flag, that kills insects (but can't hurt people or house pets), comes from rare flowers. It is Nature's own secret—quick, sure, safe. Use it on mosquitoes, or any other bug.

★ ★ For crawling insects, like ants and roaches, Black Flag Powder gives best results. You shoot it in the cracks where the insects hide. It works the same way—knocks bugs dead as dead can be. Every good druggist, grocer, hardware or general store sells Black Flag. It kills quicker—and costs no more.

"FIFTY PRINTS OF YEAR"
AT CITY ART MUSEUM
Exhibit Assembled by American Institute of Graphic Arts Mostly Etchings.
The collection of "Fifty Prints of the Year," assembled by the American Institute of Graphic Arts, has been installed in the basement galleries at City Art Museum in Forest Park and will remain throughout the month.
Examples in the exhibition were chosen to illustrate current tendencies of American print makers and include 29 works of conservative artists and 21 of the modernists. Two Jurors, John Taylor Arms for the conservatives and Max Weber for the modernists, made the selection.
More etchings than any other type of print are included. Lithographs and drypoints are second in number and there are one or two examples of wood engravings, aquatints, mezzotints and other processes.
Kenneth Grahame, Writer, Dies.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 7.—Kenneth Grahame, novelist, died suddenly yesterday at Pangbourne on the Thames. He was born in Edinburgh in 1859. He was the author of "The Golden Age," "The Wind in the Willows," "Pagan Papers" and "Dream Days."

McADOO GRATIFIED THAT SMITH WILL SUPPORT TICKET

Calls Idea That He Switched to Roosevelt to Get Revenge for 1924 "G.O.P. Propaganda."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—William G. McAdoo said today after a conference with Speaker Garner that the Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee had promised to speak in California during the campaign. McAdoo added: "He will certainly appear at Los Angeles." McAdoo predicted the Democratic ticket "will carry California, Mr. Hoover's own State."
He expressed gratification at Alfred E. Smith's announcement he would support the party ticket and described as "Republican propaganda trying to stir up trouble" reports he had thrown California's votes to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt because Smith blocked him in 1924. Denies Revenge Motive.
"I felt sure that Gov. Smith, a fine Democrat, would support the ticket," McAdoo said. "It was extremely unfair to the Governor to suggest that he would not support the party."
"There was no element of revenge in any action of mine at Chicago. If there had been, why should I have gone to Roosevelt who led the fight for Smith in 1924?"
McAdoo smiled as he made this statement. He added:
"The condition in the country is so grave that we did not want to do anything to endanger the opportunity of the Democratic party to render the service it can to the country at this time."
McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, was asked what he thought of Garner's speech yesterday, demanding that the loaning powers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be broadened.
"I think the Speaker is absolutely right in the position he has taken," the former Treasury head said. "It is absolutely indefensible to give all this relief to special interests and not to all the people."
Danger to Credit "Bank."
"The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has helped many banks throughout the country but I notice by their year-end statements in yesterday's papers that a great many are carrying in excess of 70 per cent in reserves. They are not lending and have stopped functioning."
"Therefore, it is essential to open other credit resources to the people."
"Mr. Garner's plan would have the effect of loosening all other credit. Its principle is sound. How can we run the Government for the few?"
"All this talk about danger to the treasury, with the credit of the United States behind it, is pure bunk. I am quite sure a Democratic administration could use these resources to the benefit of the entire people."
"I think we have a splendid ticket and I have no more doubt of its election than that we are talking here."
McAdoo, who is a candidate in the Democratic senatorial primary in California, said he did not "care to say anything about prohibition at this moment."

NEW TRIAL IS GRANTED TO GEORGE BLOCKBURGER
Professional Bondsman Had Been Convicted of Offense Against 15-Year-Old Girl.
George Blockburger, convicted two weeks ago at Edwardsville of an offense against a 15-year-old girl, obtained a new trial yesterday. Blockburger, professional bondsman and real estate dealer in Granite City, was the go-between who delivered $40,000 two years ago to the kidnappers of his friend, Charles Pershall, wealthy grocer.
At a hearing last week before City Judge Borders of East St. Louis, who had presided at the trial, counsel for Blockburger argued that prejudicial evidence had been permitted to go before the jury and that the manner in which Judge Borders had ruled on an objection was prejudicial to the defendant.
The case will be tried again during the September term of court.

HERO OF SHIP DISASTER DIES
Adolph Walter Saved 15 Lives in Fire on Steamer Slocum in 1904.
By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., July 7.—Adolph Walter, 78 years old, who received a congressional medal for saving 15 persons from drowning during the steamer Slocum fire disaster in New York, died here yesterday. Six children survive, including Adolph Jr. and Charles F. Walter, and Mrs. Louise Schwarz, all of New York.
The General Slocum left its pier in East River July 15, 1904, with about 1800 persons aboard, on a church picnic excursion. Soon fire was discovered. After some delay, the boat was beached on North Brother Island. Estimates of the dead ranged from 928 to 1031.
Breaks Marital Knot, Dies New One
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Ill., July 7.—T. J. Coffman of Hume appeared in Circuit Court here yesterday as attorney for Mrs. Emma Fleener in her divorce suit. He is not the divorcee's husband. Fifteen minutes later, as a Justice of the Peace, Coffman officiated at the wedding of Mrs. Fleener and Charles Campbell.

ST. LOUIS NOW GETTING NATURAL GAS MIXTURE

Product Has Higher Heating Value Than That Heretofore Served.

Natural gas, mixed with manufactured gas, is now being served to all domestic gas users in St. Louis. It was announced today by the Laclede Gas Light Co. The mixed gas is richer in heat value than the manufactured gas heretofore served, containing 800 British thermal units to the cubic foot as compared with 600 for the manufactured product.

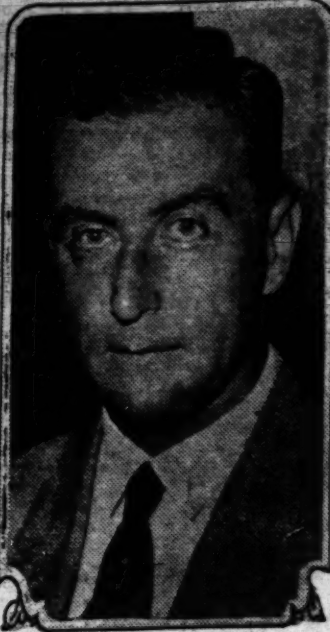

Preparatory to the change, the gas company had trained employees to adjust all appliance burners so as to obtain satisfactory results from the richer gas. Several hundred men were engaged in this work. Rates for the new gas, as filed with the Public Service Commission, are to be about 1 per cent lower for general service and about 30 per cent lower for house heating.

The natural gas comes from the Monroe and Richland fields of Louisiana, through about 450 miles of pipe line. The mixture is prepared in mixing stations built by the Laclede company. The company is maintaining its gas manufacturing plants to produce artificial gas for mixing. These plants also would supply the city in case of interruption of the natural supply, the company states.

Will Present Three Plays. Gregory Studio players will present three one-act plays and Mrs. Roslyn Franklin McCaughey, Joseph Hodges and Earl Platz of the St. Louis College of Music will sing at a Washington bicentennial program tomorrow at 8 p. m. on the roof garden of the T. W. C. A., 1411 Locust street.

GERMAN FLYER

E. F. BAIER.

GERMAN ARMY FLYER TELLS OF U. S. COURSE

Capt. Baier Regards Himself as Rabbit Learning Methods of Hunter.

"It would be of great advantage to a rabbit to know the methods of the hunter," (Capt. E. F. Baier of the German army, who recently completed the army flying course at Kelly Field with a class of American cadets, was summing up his experiences at the school.)

"Under the peace treaty Germany is not allowed to have a military air force," he continued, "but she is permitted to find out what the man with the gun is doing in the way of new methods. I am the rabbit learning all I can about the hunter."

Capt. Baier stopped in St. Louis yesterday on his way to Selfridge Field, Michigan, where he will complete his observations in the role of "rabbit."

He came to the United States last September with Capt. von Bechtolsheim through an arrangement between the United States and Germany under which two American officers were sent to Germany for instruction. Capt. von Bechtolsheim entered the artillery school at Fort Sill, Ok. Except for omission of ground school work, with which he was familiar, Capt. Baier went through the army flying school just as any other student officer does. American military planes and instruction methods he characterized as "most efficient." His classmates and the instructor personnel at Kelly Field were "nice fellows."

The 37-year-old officer has spent the last 18 years in the army. The first two years of the World War he was in the artillery. Then he transferred to air service, serving first with an observation squadron, and during 1918 as a pursuit pilot. He shot down two Allied planes.

With Germany shorn of its air force, Capt. Baier returned to the artillery. Two years ago he was placed on detached duty with the German War Department. As yet he has received no orders to go home. On completing his observations at Selfridge Field he plans to go to Washington.

WILL ROGERS, TEACHER RECEIVES HEAVY VOTE

Second in Oklahoma Congressional Primary—Not Related to Humorist.

By the Associated Press. OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., July 7.—An obscure schoolmaster, Will Rogers, swept into second place for the Democratic nomination as Congressman-at-Large this afternoon, although his votes in Tuesday's primary had been counted in 500 fewer precincts than those of Mrs. Mabel Bassett, the leader. The teacher will enter the run-off primary July 26 if he continues to hold his position. He is not related to the humorist.

Mrs. Bassett, Gov. Murray's opponent and Commissioner of Charities and Corrections, held first place with 48,876 votes from 2,961 precincts. Only 2,442 precincts had reported Rogers' vote, but he had polled 43,777 votes at that time.

Ex-Congressman E. B. Howard's vote from 2,961 precincts was 42,311.

Tabulators did not begin to count Rogers' vote until he had led the field of 25 candidates in several counties.

Rogers is superintendent of the school at Moore, a village 10 miles south of Oklahoma City. In his home county he polled only 53 votes. He made no campaign.

Claude Weaver, generally regarded as Murray's favorite for Congressman-at-Large, was definitely eliminated and he returned to work today as the Governor's secretary, a position he resigned three weeks ago to concentrate on his campaign.

J. C. (Jack) Walton, impeached and removed from the Governorship in 1923, led a long list of contenders for the Democratic nomination for Corporation Commissioner.

The State's other ousted Governor, Henry S. Johnston, who nominated Murray for the presidency at the Democratic National Convention, received a nomination for the State Senate, and will oppose the veteran Jo Ferguson (Rep.), one of the Senators who voted to oust him.

Elmer Thomas (Dem.), asking re-election to the United States Senate, will be opposed by Gomer Smith, Oklahoma City lawyer, in the run-off primary July 26, available returns indicated.

For the Republican nomination for United States Senator, Wirt Franklin, oil operator, was well in the lead but appeared headed for a run-off contest with either James A. (Big Jim) Harris or U. S. Stone.

Ernest W. Marland, who made and lost a vast oil fortune, won the Democratic Congressional nomination in the Eighth District, now represented by M. C. Garber, Republican. Garber likewise was renominated.

Natural Gas

The LACLEDE GAS LIGHT COMPANY
OLIVE AT ELEVENTH

WHEN natural gas was turned into St. Louis mains a few days ago, it signaled the completion of a tremendous task that required the services of several thousand men for a period of many months.

The new fuel flows through a pipeline 450 miles long, from the Louisiana gas fields to our St. Louis mains. Compressor stations every hundred miles, house giant turbines and engines that propel the gas through the pipeline until finally it enters our plants. Here it is mixed with manufactured gas to provide St. Louis with the most perfect fuel nature and science have yet produced.

Another reason why city gas plants are kept in constant operation day and night is to prevent the possibility of supply failure through some phenomenon of nature. We must make absolutely sure that St. Louis will never be without a gas supply, even though the possible failure of natural gas is inconceivable to the many engineering and geological experts whose advice was sought before our gigantic task was undertaken.

New and lower rates make gas one of the cheapest of household expenditures when you measure the returns you get for your money. Gas will heat your home, and for a few pennies a day it will cook your meals, keep a constant supply of hot water ready at the turn of a tap, provide automatic refrigeration and perform hundreds of other valuable services in the home.

Many folks who have wanted to enjoy the comfort, convenience and distinction of a gas heated home but have been deterred by the cost will be interested to know that the new low rates bring this ultra-modern method of house heating down to a cost that is within reach of modest budgets. Our house heating department is equipped to furnish free estimates which will show you, in black and white, how economically you can heat your home with gas. Call CEntal 3800, station 461.

URGES THAT U. S. BACK CREDIT OF JOBLESS CITIZENS

Donald R. Richberg, at Senate Hearing, Supports Plan to Enable Them to Buy Necessaries.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Passage of a bill to finance the purchase of necessities by unemployed heads of families was strenuously urged on the Senate yesterday by Donald R. Richberg, noted Chicago attorney, representing the railway labor organizations. The bill, introduced simultaneously in the Senate and House by Senator Costigan (Dem.), Colorado, and Representative La Guardia (Rep.), New York, would establish a $3,000,000,000 Government corporation similar to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, except that it would make loans to consumers instead of producers.

"The passage of such a bill," Richberg told a Senate committee, "will furnish a nation-wide insurance against privation in the coming winter, will increase employment rapidly, and will turn the tide of depression, restoring security and confidence to millions of American homes. It is useless to finance the production of goods through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation unless we also make it possible for the consumers to buy those goods."

The bill provides for the creation of the United States Exchange Corporation (hereafter called the USEC), which within 30 days would make a survey of the existing demands upon essential industries for the necessities of life which are not being satisfied because of lack of purchasing power. On the basis of this survey the USEC would arrange through local agencies to extend credits in amounts not exceeding $300 each to unemployed heads of families, with an additional $100 for each dependent, no loan to exceed $500.

Would Give Personal Notes. Applicants for such loans would give their personal notes to repay the loans within 10 years of the date of borrowing, such notes to bear interest at the rate of 1 per cent for the first year, 2 per cent for the second year, 3 per cent for the third year and 4 per cent thereafter. These notes, when accompanied by a certificate of credit from the USEC, would be legal tender for the purchase of necessities.

The corporation would have an initial capital of $500,000,000, which could be increased to $3,000,000,000 by the sale of bonds and debentures, as in the case of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Its board of directors would consist of the Secretaries of Labor, Commerce and the Treasury and six members appointed by the President.

Explaining that the measure represented the concerted thought and study of many economists, labor leaders and industrialists, Richberg declared there was "general agreement" upon the following two essential principles which underlie the bill:

"First, that credit which normally is used to increase production should now be used to increase purchasing power; and second, that the only remedy for unemployment is to put men to work." Commenting upon the efforts of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, he said:

"Loans to banks, railroads and business enterprises may delay bankruptcies and receiverships, but will not increase employment or purchasing power. The value of its stocks and bonds are not enhanced when a corporation goes deeper in debt. A bank is not made solvent by borrowing money with which to pay its depositors. The loans of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation may postpone but cannot prevent disaster. More constructive forces must be invoked to arrest the downward trend."

His View on Construction. "Likewise, loans for new public or private construction should stimulate employment and increase purchasing power, but the merit of such a program depends largely on its volume and speed, and both are uncertain. A little new work, a trickle of added purchasing power, will not bring about a general business revival. There is little encouragement to launch new income-producing projects when billions of capital now invested in such enterprises are idle and profitless because of the lost purchasing power of the masses."

"This bill proposes to create new employment by financing new purchasing power. It will positively relieve the distress of a majority of the unemployed. It will increase employment rapidly. Regardless of any debate over its ultimate effect, we cannot argue over its immediate results."

Simultaneous with Richberg's appearance before the Senate Committee, David B. Robertson, chairman of the Railway Labor Executive Association, issued a statement urging prompt enactment of the bill. He said: "The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has not relieved destitution or put a single jobless person back to work. Probably it has saved many large banks and corporations from disaster, but it has not added a cent to the starved purchasing power of the consuming public."

Garner's Speech in House Urging Broadening of R. F. C. Relief

Speaker Defines His Stand as Against Class Borrowers and in Favor of All With Adequate Security.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 7.—After being asked by Representative Goldsborough (Dem., Maryland) whether it was proper for the President to summon to the White House members of a Congressional Conference Committee after an agreement had been reached between the two Houses, Speaker Garner, speaking on the relief question in the House yesterday, said in part:

"It has not been customary since I have been a member of Congress, but when the President of the United States invites members of the House to the Executive office for the purpose of discussing the welfare of the Union, I do not see how it is possible that we could refuse."

"However, I do want to say that it is not the best custom. And I do not think it is quite in keeping with the Constitution or the thought of the makers of the Constitution as to the relation between the Executive and the legislative branches of the Government, for the President of the United States to wait until a conference report is completed and has been signed by the members of the conference to secure a copy of it and before that conference report is filed in the House of Representatives to summon them to the Executive office for the purpose of telling them how to correct their work. It ought not to exist, and I on this floor protest against it."

Purpose of the Bill.
"Title two of the bill has for its purpose the lending of $2,500,000,000 to the people of the United States. That is the difference between the President and myself. Representative Rainey joined me."

"Back in February we passed what is known as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act at the urgent request of the President of the United States to take the place of a private corporation created by the bankers of this country to do the same thing that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is doing except that it had no limitations on what it could loan money for. We passed the act although we were hesitant."

"We knew that we were launching into a field that could not be defended under the principles of the Constitution of the United States. But this country was in the throes of desperation, economically. And as the result we took it as the President wanted it, hoping and believing that it would restore confidence and prosperity."

"The corporation has been functioning now for four months. It probably has been of wonderful benefit to the country. Nobody can tell. Nobody knows how many banks would have their doors closed today had it not been for the corporation. I think it has been a benefit to the country, but it has not brought about the results we hoped for."

Issue as Speaker Sees It.
"The issue between the President and the Congress is this: We are going to broaden the base of this corporation. You say the railroads, the insurance companies, the Joint Stock Land Banks, banks of all kinds, and other corporate interests have been wonderfully benefited."

"We now propose in the House of Representatives to add $1,500,000,000 to the funds of that corporation, that much of the money of the people of the United States, and we propose to say that from henceforth there shall be no class legislation and no class borrowers, but that the whole people of the United States are going to share in it."

"How can you gentlemen sit here and have your taxpayers put up $2,500,000,000 and then say to a citizen in your state or to a private corporation in your state that wants to borrow money that have adequate security, and who intend to put labor to work—how can you say, sir, that this Reconstruction Finance Corporation ought not to make the loan?"

"How can you say that it is more important in this nation that the New York Central Railroad should meet the interest on its bonds in July and August of this year than it is to prevent the sale of 500,000 farms and homes in this republic?"

Condition of the Country.
"I undertake to say now, and I have the President's authority for it, that this country is in worse shape than it has ever been in all its history, because I heard him say so last night in reply to my questions, 'Do you believe that the appropriation of $322,000,000 will bring on a panic?'"

"He said he was afraid of it. He said it might, and that it would be a shock to the country. So, if the President of the United States has arrived at the conclusion that prosperity is not just around the corner and that panic is staring us in the face, I am led to the belief he anticipates what may happen in the near future in this country and wants to make some excuse for it."

"I said to the President this morning as I said to him last night—I am through with class legislation. You want to provide this $2,500,000,000 and you want to give it to the railroads, the insurance companies, the mortgage companies and the immense wealth of the country."

"They said to me, 'Why, all the people will get a benefit out of it.' My friends, it is too high. The drippings do not reach down to the earth."

"I want to start at the bottom. I want these seven men who control this corporation to have the right to say that this money is lifted into their keeping by all the taxpayers of the United States."

"The railroad companies, the banks and the insurance companies do not pay all the taxes in this republic, so why should you go out and gather from all this audience here $2,500,000,000, then say we have got to take care of this small bunch over here, and then let them have the benefit of this wholesome policy and leave out all the balance?"

"Now, on the Democratic side you may say, and some of you on the Republican side may think, that we ought not to trust this board with such a stupendous sum of money or with such broad discretionary powers."

"My friends, if you are going to take that position, then there is only one consistent thing for you to do and that is to say that these seven men cannot be trusted either with respect to their wisdom or their patriotism, and then you ought to repeal the law."

"You ought not to put this trust in the hands of men that you are not going to give an opportunity to serve all the people, the same as you give them the opportunity to serve a certain class or a certain interest."

"If you cannot trust them to lend to an individual or to a private corporation, why did you trust them to lend to the particular class enumerated in the present law? I say that, if you can trust them to lend to one and exercise discretion in that particular, you can trust them to lend to all."

"I believe this is the safe thing to do. I believe it will be helpful to the country. I believe it will restore confidence in the banks, because the people will know they have one place where they can get some money to keep from being closed out by those they owe, if they have adequate security."

COMMITTEES NAMED TO SEEK CUT IN COST OF GOVERNMENT

The Public, Inc., Seeks to Build Up National Organization For Tax Reduction.

Membership of the executive and advisory committees of The Public, Inc., an organization recently formed by the Chamber of Commerce to campaign for a reduction of governmental costs and taxes, has been announced by Charles H. Morrill, chairman of the board, sponsoring the organization.

Those on the executive committee are S. W. Allender, Thomas Anderson, Ira L. Bretzfelder, W. C. Doering, John Hall, R. S. Hawes, Charles M. Polk, A. H. Reller, Harry Scullin and Hugo Wurdack. There are 41 members of the advisory committee.

Letters outlining details of the organization have been sent to chambers of commerce in other cities with the purpose of building up a national body.

SEVENTY-FIVE SCIENTIFIC TESTS PROVE OLD GOLD COOLEST SMOKE

Scientists of Two Leading Universities Check Tests That Prove Old Gold Best

Scientists of two leading Universities have checked the tests described on this page and their findings corroborated in every detail those of the New York Testing Laboratories.

Samples of each lot of cigarettes tested have been sealed in airtight bottles:

1. For scientists who may wish to check the tests.
2. To refer to in later years to see what effect the tests have had in improving other brands up to the Old Gold pure tobacco standard.

To any scientific or technical authority, the signed report of these two scientists will be sent on application to P. Lorillard Company, Inc., 119 West 40th St., New York City.

OLD GOLDS ARE PURE TOBACCO • NO ARTIFICIAL FLAVORING

LABORATORY CHECK PLACES O. G. FIRST, EASIEST ON THROAT

"O. G.'s Finer Tobacco and its Freedom from Added Flavorings Make it a Definitely Cooler Cigarette," say Noted Authorities

"Conclusive evidence that Old Gold gives a cooler smoke . . . cooler than any of the three other leading cigarette brands . . . has been obtained through the most accurate heat-testing method known to Science," it has been announced by the New York Testing Laboratories.

"Seventy-five repeated tests of the four big brands confirmed this finding," G. Brinton Jack, Jr., Director of the Laboratories, asserted. Mr. Jack emphatically stated that the tests were initiated by the Laboratories solely as a matter of scientific research, and entirely without the participation of cigarette manufacturers.

"Accurate temperature records made of the smoke of each of the four cigarettes completed the proof that Old Gold is definitely cooler than the other brands," Mr. Jack asserted.

"It is not our province in this report to speculate on the reasons for Old Gold's cooler smoking qualities," Mr. Jack stated. "But we are told that Old Gold is a cigarette of the finest and purest tobacco quality . . . without artificial flavoring. This alone might well account for its coolness and mildness, since low grade tobacco, or tobacco containing oily flavorings, has a tendency to burn into hot and irritating fumes." He continued:

"These tests required eight months to complete. We purchased hundreds of cartons of the four leading brands through regular retail channels, and each brand was represented in each of the 75 tests. We employed the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, recognized by scientists throughout the world as the most accurate method of measuring the heat given off in the combustion of any organic substance."

Hoover's Criticism of Garner Relief Plan

WASHINGTON, July 7.

FOLLOWING is the text of President Hoover's statement on relief legislation:

I regret that the conference in endeavor to arrive at a basis of a workable relief bill did not succeed.

It is all the more regrettable since the deliberations this morning (Wednesday) made it clear that it was possible to harmonize conflicting views and so reach an agreement were it not for the insistence of the speaker on one point.

The bill as reported by the conferees provides:

1. Provision for expanding the borrowing authority of the Reconstruction Corporation by $1,500,000,000 to be used for temporary financing of self-liquidating construction projects of public and semi-public character to increase employment.

2. Speaker Garner insists that the corporation shall also make loans to any individual, any private corporation, any partnership, any state, or any municipality on any conceivable kind of security and for any conceivable purpose.

3. Provision of a fund by the Reconstruction Corporation of $100,000,000 for the President, to be disposed of either as charity or as loans, and one of $200,000,000 to be loaned to state governments who are unable to finance themselves to care for distress, but such loans to be apportioned amongst the states on a per capita basis of population.

4. Three hundred and twenty-two million dollars of additional public works beyond the $500,000,000 of construction work now provided for in the budget.

As to the first provision, the Reconstruction Corporation authority to make loans today is practically limited to institutions under state and Federal regulation, that is—banks, savings banks, building and loan associations.

What Collapse Would Mean.

It is serving to protect the credit structure of the nation whose collapse would mean the complete disaster to all and the savings of all the people that directly or indirectly are in the safe keeping of the great fiduciary institutions, savings banks, insurance companies, building and loan associations. That is the whole people.

The provision to finance $1,500,000,000 self-liquidating construction projects for relief of unemployment comprised part of the proposals I had already made to the Congress.

Grant Fawn Barker.

The fatal difficulty is the Speaker's insistence upon provision that loans should also be made to individuals, private corporations, partnerships, states and municipalities on any conceivable security and for every purpose.

Such an undertaking by the United States Government makes the Reconstruction Corporation the most gigantic banking and pawn broking business in all history.

There are 48 states and 16,000 municipalities who could under its terms dump their responsibilities upon the Federal Government. The purpose to take care of unemployment distress in such centers is provided for in the proposals of employment and loans to the states.

The speaker's proposal in no sense contributes to relieve such distress. It would compel the Reconstruction Corporation to attempt to deal with millions of people in terms of hundreds of thousands of small and large loans.

It would result in dumping a vast amount of doubtful private and corporation debts on the Federal Treasury to no national purpose of relieving unemployment.

It would require the extension of branch offices in every town and county in the United States and set up a huge bureaucracy able to dictate the welfare of millions of people and at the will of its agents deal favor and disaster amongst them.

No group of seven men can so organize as not to discriminate unfairly between competitive enterprises. There is no body of men who could physically administer such a gigantic project.

The board of the Reconstruction Corporation, except one absent member, informs me unambiguously that the making of loans to individuals is totally unworkable. It would undermine Federal credit and bring a vast increase in unemployment.

"Impossible of Execution."

I wish to emphasize what it means. Such a proposal means that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is to take over an impossible task and most difficult part of the banking business that is to deal with the doubtful credits in the whole United States.

To carry out such a purpose it would be necessary, as I have said, for the board of seven men to set up branch banks in practically every community and to direct their operations from Washington. It would be dependent upon men in these thousands of branches.

The task of organization and of finding competent personnel would not be a matter of months but of years. From an organization and administrative standpoint it is self-evident that the proposal is impossible of execution, and huge losses and great scandals must inevitably result from any attempt to do so.

Any attempt to carry out such a law under these circumstances must mean the squandering of hundreds of millions of dollars of public funds.

The board would be flooded with hundreds of thousands of applications. There would be serious interference, if not a complete breakdown, of the vital activities it is now carrying on under high pressure.

And there will be disappointment on the parts of hundreds and thousands of individuals and thousands of businesses who will have been led to believe that the credit of the United States Government was made available for their individual purposes. There will be inevitable discriminations. The organization would be subject to predatory corporations and interests everywhere.

Aside from the utter impracticability of the proposal, no funds, or totally inadequate funds, are provided for the making of these loans.

No Additional Funds.

The bill as it came from the Senate provided for increasing the authority of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to borrow by $1,500,000,000 for certain self-liquidating construction projects enumerated in the bill. Presumably the Senate did not provide more than it thought was necessary for these purposes. Not one penny is to be added for the making of these individual, private, corporation and public loans.

needs of the people of the United States may be had from the following figures: Total bank loans on Dec. 31 last aggregated over $31,600,000,000. This does not take into consideration loans made by insurance companies running into the billions, loans made by savings banks, mortgage companies, building and loan associations amounting to $9,000,000,000, or the funded debt of corporations running into further billions.

To hold out the hope to the people of the United States that the United States Government is prepared to take care of their credit needs with the ridiculous sum provided, or the impossible organization urged, must be condemned, in addition to every other reason, as a deception.

Furthermore, the statement of the speaker that the board can determine if it should enter upon such loans is a shifting of responsibility from the Congress to the board which is itself misleading the hopes of the people.

Based on U. S. Credit.

Under the provisions of the bill as it came from the Senate, the funds available to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation were increased from $2,000,000,000 to $3,800,000,000. Of this the corporation must borrow $3,800,000,000.

The corporation can only borrow such sum because its debentures are guaranteed by the United States, or, in other words, because the credit of the United States is pledged to secure its obligations.

To sell any such vast amount of securities at a time like this is a difficult enough task, strong as is the credit of the United States Government. But it can only be done and done without danger to breakdown of the credit of the Government if the purposes for which the funds are to be used are economically sound and if the loans be made under such safeguards that they will be repaid, in order that the transactions will not constitute a charge on the general fund of the Treasury and the taxpayers.

But if these funds are to be squandered by the making of loans for every conceivable purpose, with inadequate safeguards, it will at once become evident that the credit of the Government is being misused.

We have sought during these difficult times to maintain as a pillar of unassailable strength the credit of the United States Government. It is not too much to say that the measure proposed and insisted upon even to the extent of defeat of relief legislation by the Speaker of the House threatens the credit of the United States Government and disaster to our people. The proposal violates every sound principle of public finance and of government.

My objection to the second proposal of placing $100,000,000 at the disposal of the President was that the Federal Government should not make direct charitable gifts to individuals, and that such responsibility should not be placed on the President. A further objection is that the $200,000,000 of loans to states were allocated on a population basis, or $1.66 per capita.

A large part of the states are able to take care of their own and to finance their relief needs, and probably three-fourths of the total amount would be unused by such states or alternatively there would be every pressure upon state officials to demand the money even though there was no need.

Raising False Hopes.

The funds assignable to states where there is acute need would, when reduced to the per capita of the people suffering from unemployment in those acute areas, amount to less than $10 per person for a whole year. The apparent large sums discussed would raise false hopes, would tend to destroy charity and undermine local and governmental contributions to the needy in several times the amount which would be made available.

Furthermore, loans are to be made to states solely on the certificate of the Governor and administered solely by him. There is no precaution that the funds are to be administered under the ordinary checks and supervisions of the state governments or Federal Government. To allocate such large sums to a public official without restriction or the necessity

WALL ST. BANKS LEND 43 PCT. OF RESOURCES

Midyear Statements Show Decrease; Few Requests Given as Reason.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The mid-year condition statements of Wall Street banks indicate that the five largest were lending about 43 out of every $100 they have in resources.

On a percentage basis the loans were somewhat less than one year ago, but bankers say this is due principally to the dearth of loan requests from corporations to which they would willingly lend money, in view of the low volume of business activity and the small amount of credit needed to carry it on.

The five largest New York City banks—Chase National, National City, Guaranty Trust, Bankers Trust and Irving Trust—report aggregate resources, as of June 30, last, amounting to $5,747,000,000. Their loans stood at $2,476,000,000 and they had a total of $1,164,000,000 invested in Government bonds. Their cash totaled an aggregate of $1,039,000,000.

One year ago their loans stood at $2,751,000,000 and they had an aggregate of $1,010,000,000 invested in Government obligations while their cash total $1,501,000,000. The ratio of loans to resources showed that they had placed roughly 47 of every $100 resources in loans last summer, against 43 out of every $100 this summer.

The shrinkage in total resources over the 12 months—from $7,885,000,000 to $5,747,000,000—reflects the general process of deflation. Collateral loans have been deflated and many straight commercial loans have been paid off and not renewed. This action has been reflected in a decline in deposits. When a bank lends money to an individual, he ordinarily pays the money out and the person to whom he pays, deposits the money in a bank. So when banks extend credit, bank deposits increase. As funds are used to pay off loans, bank deposits decrease.

In the last three months, the drop in bank loans and total resources has been slower than it was in the nine preceding months. Similarly there has been a smaller decline in bank deposits. Bankers are showing keen interest in the proposal that banks and business concerns utilize the form of credit known as trade acceptances more widely. The effect, it is argued, should be to expand credit and bank deposits.

TEXT OF HOOVER'S CRITICISM OF GARNER'S RELIEF MEASURE

of proper accounting and auditing is unheard of.

As to the third point, that is the provisions to spend additional $322,000,000 on public works, my objections were that the cost of these works ultimately comes from the taxpayer and will produce a deficit in the budget by just the amount expended; that it discards to the winds every effort made to balance the budget. Many of the works designed are remote from centers of unemployment. The technicians of the Government state that it would give during the year an average direct employment to less than 100,000 out of a total of 8,000,000 unemployed.

It was, however, possible to reach a fair adjustment of the proposal as to $300,000,000 loans to the states which may be unable to relieve distress, and to protect the Treasury in large measure in the matter of the $322,000,000 of non-productive public works. We are in agreement in the provision of temporary loans by the Reconstruction Corporation to finance $1,600,000,000 of productive construction work for the unemployed.

There is unquestioned need for the passage of legislation to take care of unemployment and such cases of destitution as the resources of the states are unable to meet. I have recommended such legislation.

While I am determined that there shall be relief legislation at this session of Congress, I cannot accept the proposal up to now insisted upon by Speaker Garner as a condition to securing his support, for I do not propose to further increase unemployment by such disastrous action as is now proposed through jeopardizing the whole credit of the Government and laying our people open to every kind of injustice and loss.

PIRATES DRIVING TOWARD FLAG AT .702 GAIT SINCE MIDDLE OF MAY

By Herman Wacke.

In the drive which has carried the Pittsburgh Pirates from last place to a position 3 1/2 games ahead of the pack in the National League pennant struggle, since May 13, George Gibson's men have played at a .702 pace to increase their percentage from .318 to .580, a gain of 26.2 percentage points.

When the Corsairs went out for battle on May 13, the team was anchored at the bottom of the list, 14 1/2 games behind the Cubs, leaders at that time. The club had a record of seven victories against 15 defeats. Today the figure is 40-23, which shows that the team has won 32 of its last 47 games.

The spurt of the Pittsburgh club is the only one shown by any of the teams in the Heydler circuit in this time. All of the others have been 50-50 aggregations.

Cardinals Second Best.

Since the Pirates started their drive to the front, the Cardinals have been the second best team in the league, but the work of the Redbirds is nothing to write home about. The team has won 33 games and lost 22 for a winning percentage of .511, which leaves Gabby Street's men 19 1/2 percentage points behind the Pirates during this stretch.

The Phillies are next best with a 30-23 figure, which the Dodgers have split 52 games played. Chicago, which was first on May 13, has made a poor showing, since Rogers Hornsby's men have won but 20 games and lost 27 for a mark of .426. The Braves and Giants have played at a .490 pace, while the mark for the Reds is .453.

League Record Since May 13.

Following is the record of the National League clubs since May 13:

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
Pittsburgh	33	14	.702
Cardinals	33	22	.511
Philadelphia	27	26	.509
Brooklyn	26	26	.500
Boston	26	28	.480
New York	24	25	.490
Chicago	20	27	.426
Cincinnati	21	33	.388

CONTRIBUTE IS NOSE WINNER IN EMPIRE SPRINT

NEW YORK, July 7.—The much-improved gelding Contribute, given a splendid ride by Silvio Cecchi, scored a stirring nose victory in the Woodland Purse, a dash of about six furlongs, which attracted a speedy field at Empire City track this afternoon.

The son of Purchase just got up to beat the 50-to-1 shot, Capacity, on the wire. Cambal accounted for the runners finished.

Contribute, carrying the silks of Damon Runyan, ran the short six furlongs in 1:10 and paid $5 to 1.

Trainer's Bob was the favorite and Pony McLean sent her to the front at the break to open up daylight over Regula Baddum. This pair held away most of the way but the chole curled up badly after straightening out in the stretch and Regula Baddum, in the worst footing in the inside, also tossed up the sponge. Capacity then got to the front but Contribute and Contribute, after circling the leaders at the stretch turn, wore down the long shot in a hard drive.

Cambal closed steadily to beat Irene's Bob.

the Olympic Games. But the electric recording system will be used experimentally at Palo Alto, July 15, and 16.

This should be accurate, for the pressing of the pistol trigger starts the electric timer and the breaking of the tape completes the circuit. At the same time a photographic device, mounted on a tower, snaps the position of the men at various points along the route and at the finish, making the result beyond all dispute as to the respective positions in which the runners finished.

PIRATE VICTORY OVER GIANTS IS PROTESTED

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 7.—Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, announced he had forwarded a protest of Tuesday's Pirates-Giants game to John A. Heydler, president of the National League.

The protest is based on Terry's contention that some of the Pirates played second-base, back to the plate after he had collided with Catcher Frank Hegon in the sixth inning.

The Pirates won the game.

Sandino Forwards Letter Found on Slain Marine

Captain Wrote to Wife From "Hell Hole," Where They "Fire Behind Your Back."

By the Associated Press.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 7.—Headquarters of the Nicaraguan National Guard today denied reports that Capt. Walter A. Gaspar, U. S. M. C., had been killed in action.

The Captain is still on duty with his patrol at Estel, the announcement said.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 7.—Capt. Walter A. Gaspar's letter to his wife in Waukesha, Wis., was contained in a bundle of documents taken off bodies of American Marines killed in Nicaragua recently and sent here today by Gen. Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan insurgent leader.

Sandino sent the papers to his representative here, Dr. Pedro Jose Zepeda, with the request that they be forwarded to the families in the United States. Zepeda turned them over to the Associated Press.

They included effects of Capt. Gaspar and Lieut. Fred C. Hall of the Second Marine Brigade, whose address was not given.

Gaspar, writing from San Rafael del Norte, Nicaragua, on March 30 and 31. After thanking his wife for clothing sent him which he said he had not had the opportunity to wear, he wrote:

"I arrived in this hell hole seven months ago today and we had rather have been in China all of that time. Much safer out there. (These words were doubly underlined). I would rather hear a whole white man's war than one shot fired from behind your back here.

"Have had my hands full lately. Looked up the saddle-maker and the shoemaker for stealing ammunition from the headquarters, and all the people and especially the women have been in to try to get them out of jail.

"San Domingo was a paradise to this place."

There was a break in the letter and then it resumed:

"Well, I got this far last night when a couple of shots were fired from the edge of town and we had to go out until about midnight. We are still living though.

"In spite of the fact this is supposed to be a holiday—the earthquake was one year ago today—I have been going sideways. I had

HE KNOWS what he's talking about!

"I've been looking at motors from the inside for many years and I have yet to find a motor properly cared for that wears out," said J. A. Bonell of 1206—3rd Street, Brookings, S. D.

An Interview by ROBERT J. CASEY

Chicago Daily News Reporter

J. A. Bonell of Brookings, S. D., is an authority on automotive engines. He stood by, watching with an appraising eye, while a service station attendant serviced his Studebaker car.

"Iso-Vis," he ordered. "I think I can take about two quarts more."

"I've been looking at motors from the inside out for many a year," he told the inquiring reporter a few minutes later as he drove his car through heavy going to demonstrate the smooth, powerful operation of the engine. "And I've come to the conclusion that lubrication is the last thing that will hurt them."

"This is a fair sample of the winters we get up here. But weather never bothers me any more as far as engine operation is concerned. The oil takes care of that for me. I have driven this car 43,000 miles with virtually no repair bill, and in spite of all I've heard about too much lubrication, no carbon. I had the head taken off at 40,000 miles because it seemed like the right thing to do and while it was off I had the repair man grind the valves for the same reason. He ground them in twenty minutes. Which is proof enough of my theory.

"The car gets plenty of hard usage. I drive to Minneapolis and back once every six weeks and last summer I went on a long tour East. I haven't yet found a motor properly cared for that wears out."

Mr. Bonell's 43,000 trouble-free miles prove again what Iso-Vis has demonstrated in laboratory tests and in A. A. A. tests on the Indianapolis Speedway—Positive Lubrication Protection. Iso-Vis (a Standard Oil product) will not thin out from dilution. See the Ball and Bottle Test at Standard Oil service stations and dealers.

Paul Porter of League for Industrial Democracy Speaks at Evangelical Youth Meeting Here.

NEW TREND, HE SAYS IS TOWARD SOCIALISM

Asserts Workers Will Starve in Midst of Plenty as Long as Business Is Operated for Profit.

"If you young people bungle your opportunities as your parents have, then America may get Fascism," Paul Porter, field secretary of the League for Industrial Democracy, of New York, said last night to 1500 young men and women at the National Evangelical Youth Convention at Alhambra Grotto.

Discussing "Youth in a Revolutionary World," Porter said, "Youth of 1932 is coming of age in a period of great revolutionary upheaval. An old social system known as capitalism is dying; a new system, socialism, is being born. The crisis which began in 1929 is part of that transition. Workers starve in the midst of plenty because they have not received enough in wages to buy back what they have made. This contradiction will continue as long as business is operated for profit.

Warns Against Dictatorship.
"It is a mistake to assume that the coming revolution must necessarily be violent. The real revolution will consist not of dramatic flag-waving but of a redistribution of economic power on an equalitarian basis."

Warning his audience against Fascism, Porter explained that he meant "concentration of political power into the hands of a few individuals that would correspond to the concentration of economic power—a dictatorship by big business."

Dr. Alva W. Taylor, professor of ethics at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., who spoke on "The Man, the Machine and the Job," quoted a classification of Prof. Paul Nystrom of Columbia University to the effect that in America there are 40,000,000 "poor," 65,000,000 "comfortable" and 12,000,000 "well-to-do." He estimated that 30,000,000 were without enough capital, in normal times, to insure care in prolonged illness or old age, and that at least 70,000,000, during periods of financial depression, are forced down into the poverty line, with only a bare subsistence.

Problem of Distribution.
The problem of American economics, according to Dr. Taylor, is "how to bring adequately an average of distribution between the 2,000,000 who have more than enough and the 75,000,000 who have less than enough."

The convention, which opened Tuesday, will continue to tomorrow night. Speakers for this evening are W. H. P. Anderson of London, England, general secretary of the World Mission to Lepers, and Rabbi Ferdinand Isersman of Temple Israel.

GENEVA, July 7.—Frank B. Kellogg, former United States Secretary of State, co-author of the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact, and Justice of the World Court, supported the Hoover proposal for a one-third reduction of armaments at a dinner here last night.

Guest of the United States delegation to the Disarmament Conference, Kellogg talked with leaders of the other important delegations, urging the necessity of increasing security and consolidating world peace by "genuine disarmament."

He previously had been given a warm ovation when he attended a session of the League of Nations Assembly as a spectator and was greeted with a cordial speech of appreciation by Paul Hymans, president of the session.

BRITAIN FRIENDLY TO HOOVER ARMS PLAN, SAYS BALDWIN

But Acting Premier Declares There Are Limits Beyond Which Navy Cannot Be Cut —Suggests Slash in Gun Caliber.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 7.—Great Britain announced today that it was ready to go a long way with President Hoover, on his proposal to cut armaments by one-third but there were certain limits below which the number of units in the British navy could not be cut.

This message was contained in a white paper read by Acting Premier Stanley Baldwin in Parliament, in which it was stated that the British Government desired to contribute all it could to effect practical application of the Hoover proposal. Professing a desire to associate itself with Mr. Hoover's conceptions of the problem, the British Government said it had put into practice a standard of land disarmament that more than covered Mr. Hoover's aims.

As for air service, the White paper countered the Hoover proposal to eliminate bombing planes, with a proposal for complete prohibition of all bombing from the air, "say within limits to be laid down as precisely as possible by an international commission," attacks upon civilian population would be entirely prohibited under the British idea.

"As regards the navy," Baldwin said, "it is not practicable for Great Britain to cut down the number of naval units below certain points, but if there is a limit to numerical reduction it is possible and highly desirable to secure by other means a large diminution in naval armament."

"The gun caliber at present is far too high and could be reduced by one-third in new capital ships and cruisers."

"The capital ships could then be reduced to 22,000 tons and 11-inch guns, and the cruisers from 10,000 tons with 6-inch guns, to 7000 tons with 5-inch guns."

Submarines should be abolished, Baldwin said, but he declared if that could not be accomplished their size should be reduced to 250 tons.

On this naval reduction system, aircraft carriers could be reduced to 22,000 tons and 6.1-inch guns and destroyer tonnage reduced one-third.

The Government statement was made by Baldwin in his capacity as acting Prime Minister in the absence of Premier MacDonald at Lausanne. The white paper was read textually by the head of the Government.

The white paper said there should be a strict limitation upon unladen weight of all military and naval aircraft with the exception of troop carriers and flying boats, as well as restriction in the numbers of all kinds of military and naval aircraft.

Thus it was evident that the British Government welcomed the Hoover proposals and agreed with them in many particulars, but preferred to achieve a large diminution in naval armaments by reduction of tonnage and gun calibers, rather than numerical reduction of naval units.

British Naval Proposals.
The British naval proposals read: "The Government of the United Kingdom puts forward for immediate adoption by international agreement this set of proposals relating to the navies of the world."

"1. Reduce the maximum size of any future capital ship to 22,000 tons, and the maximum caliber of the guns carried to 11 inches."

"2. Reduce the maximum size of cruisers hereafter constructed to 7000 tons and the maximum caliber of guns to 6.1 inches."

"3. If international agreement on point 2 cannot be obtained, the Government of the United Kingdom will still urge that the maximum size of capital ships should be reduced to 25,000 tons and their guns to 12 inches as a maximum."

"4. Reduce maxima for aircraft carriers to 22,000 tons with 6.1-inch guns."

"5. Abolish submarines."

"6. Reduce destroyer tonnage by approximately one-third, this depending on abolition of submarines."

"7. If submarines cannot be abolished, fix their maximum surface displacement at 250 tons with strict limitation of both total tonnage and number of units."

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, July 7.—A move to summon another five-Power naval conference to achieve further reductions in sea forces was started by British authorities today simultaneously with the announcement in London of the Government's counter proposals to President Hoover's one-third arms reduction program. The British favor holding the parley some time before the world disarmament conference resumes activity in the fall.

Meanwhile United States spokesmen criticized the program announced in London as an attempt to reduce the size of American ships and therefore force them to remain in home waters.

The United States delegation finds the British proposal quite disappointing. It was pointed out here that the British scheme for reducing the tonnage of capital ships and cruisers will not effect any financial economy until 1938 at the earliest, whereas the American program would bring an immediate saving.

One of the American delegates said: "The British proposal is framed to bring relief to our grandchildren. The American proposal will relieve us of defense burdens now."

FOR FUNDS INQUIRY INTO THE MISSOURI
SENATE CAMPAIGN

Clark and Hay Invite Howell and Byrnes to Join With Them in Request for Investigation.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
Bennett C. Clark and Charles M. Hay, two of the four candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, today called on Charles M. Howell and James W. Byrnes, the other candidates, to co-operate in a petition for a Senatorial investigation of the primary campaign expenditures of Missouri Senatorial candidates.

Clark and Hay in numerous speeches have accused Howell, wealthy Kansas City insurance lawyer, of excessive expenditure of money. There have been no such accusations as to Byrnes.

A letter to Senator R. B. Howell of Nebraska, chairman of the Senate committee for investigating Senatorial campaign expenditures, was sent today to Candidates Howell and Byrnes for their signatures. Accompanying it was a letter signed by W. Rufus Jackson, secretary of the Clark Campaign Committee, asking for an immediate response. If the other candidates do not join in the request for an investigation, Jackson said, the request would be made by Clark and Hay.

The agreement, which has been prepared in the form of a letter to Senator Howell, contains a pledge of the candidates that they will place at the disposal of the committee all books, papers and information relative to campaign expenditures, and that they will supply the committee with all information in their possession pertaining to the expenditures of other candidates.

"As candidates for the Senatorial nomination," Clark and Hay said in the letter which they are asking Candidates Howell and Byrnes to sign, "we believe that it is essential to the public interest that your committee come into Missouri sufficiently far before the primary to make a full and sufficient investigation in time to have the results of your investigation disclosed to the people before the votes are cast."

Howell has been an extensive user of newspaper advertising in his campaign, and has been active in organization work in the counties having heavy Democratic votes. Clark in public speeches has accused Howell of "attempting to buy the nomination." Many reports of expensive organization work by Howell have been circulated.

Howell has denied that his expenses to advance $200 cash to each settler, and similar contributions will be made by the province and municipality concerned. The latter contributions will be spread over a two-year period.

In making the announcement, the Commerce Department said the plan was similar to one developed recently in Germany. About 4000 small parcels of land near Vancouver will be turned over to unemployed married men who have had experience on farms. The Government had indicated its willingness to advance $200 cash to each settler, and similar contributions will be made by the province and municipality concerned. SAYS WHEAT SALE
TO CHINA OPENS

Grain Stabilization Corporation Says Many Oriental Rice-Eaters Have Been Converted to Its Use.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 7.—The 15,000,000 bushels of American wheat sold to China by the Grain Stabilization Corporation has opened up new marketing potentialities for farmers here, George S. Milnor, head of the corporation, said today.

The sale was arranged on long-term credit and the corporation and the Federal Farm Board, which owned the wheat, were severely criticized recently before a congressional committee on that score and because of the allegation that China had resold some of it for cash.

In fact, Milnor said, the wheat was distributed by the Chinese National Flood Relief Commission to starving peasants in exchange for labor on the dikes and levees of the Yangtze River Valley. It made possible the construction or repair of more than 2000 miles of flood protection. His information was contained in a report by M. S. Briggs, corporation representative in Shanghai.

Labors Got Wheat.
"Contrary to the general belief that the commission simply dealt out wheat or flour to starving refugees," Briggs wrote, "it organized a vast army of over a million laborers who were willing to exchange work for the wheat or flour."

"All the relief wheat and flour was handled under this arrangement."

"What is quite pertinent to us is the fact that it is estimated that over 2,000,000 Chinese have been positively converted from rice eaters to wheat consumers, and it is felt that they had been permanently converted, because, I understand, these people have learned that they can do more work over a longer period of time on less wheat than

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Congressman Cochran Denies Cairo Newspaper's Statement.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
In your issue of June 23, you reproduced an article from the Cairo (Ill.) Evening Citizen concerning the hearing held before the Shannon Committee, which is investigating government in business. The article indicates that I favor turning over the barge line to the railroads, which is absolutely in error. The article had been called to my attention, and on June 27 I wrote the editor of the Cairo newspaper as follows:

I have a copy of your newspaper of June 23, and have read your editorial with interest. You are absolutely in error as to my views upon the barge line. I do not believe that the government should dispose of the barge line if a suitable purchaser can be secured, but under no consideration would I agree to its sale unless specific provisions were made for its operation. I want the farmers of the Middle West and the business men of St. Louis to benefit by the large amount of money that has been invested in the barge line, but also to have inland waterways improvements. I am not in favor of the barge line being operated by the government, but I am in favor of the barge line being operated by the private enterprise, as long as it is operated in a businesslike manner. I am in favor of the barge line being operated by the private enterprise, as long as it is operated in a businesslike manner. I am in favor of the barge line being operated by the private enterprise, as long as it is operated in a businesslike manner.

It was another witness who spoke somewhat along the line attributed to me. I would not have appeared before the committee had I not been requested to do so by citizens of St. Louis. Regardless of my personal views, I feel it is my duty, when called upon, to assist a citizen of my city to have a hearing on any matter in which he might be interested. Citizens of St. Louis are now operating a barge line on the Ohio River and the Mississippi. They are rather excited over this proposed legislation, and I think that it was the basis of the appeal to have the committee look into the operations of the barge line.

A Tennis Player Issues a Warning.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THREE many moons have our bright young writers been chanting the funeral dirge of the chivalric tradition; but the young and romantic male still assumes a deferential attitude toward arrogant females when the logical procedure would be to assume a differential equation and turn the said female 90 degrees on her axis.
The situation at the municipal tennis courts is a case in point. It is a common experience, after a weary hour's waiting upon the bench, to have some female, whose chief interest in life is obviously vitamin D, charge into the line ahead with a fluster of permits and send one back to the bench for another three-quarters of an hour. To this species, priority means nothing; sharpness of elbow is the measure of right. And here behold the quaint spectacle of our emancipated woman demanding all the privileges of today and all the immunities of yesterday.

This practice will continue, no doubt; but some day it will happen to me that my adrenal gland has been over-secreted; and then, with an utter disregard for the consequences to my racket, I shall, in the Oskanian phrase, "kill me a woman."

ELECTRON.

The Bonus Marchers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE boys are marching again. "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag and Smile, Smile, Smile." It's the same old tune and the same old boys who marched in 1918. For another three-quarters of an hour. To this species, priority means nothing; sharpness of elbow is the measure of right. And here behold the quaint spectacle of our emancipated woman demanding all the privileges of today and all the immunities of yesterday.

"Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag and Smile, Smile, Smile." It was the funeral march of dead hopes and illusions wept for by a few who remembered as the bonus marchers swept on to Washington.

RICHARD MACKLIN MOORE.

A MOMENTOUS MEETING.

In an effort to find the answer to the local relief problem, a meeting will be held in Mayor Miller's office tomorrow of city officials, representatives of civic and business organizations and of the relief agencies.

This meeting is of immense importance, since it involves the fate of 8000 families, dropped from relief lists July 1 for want of funds, and 8000 other families, who must be dropped July 15 unless money is forthcoming.

These 13,000 families, whose breadwinners cannot find employment, are dependent on the public for the grimmest necessities of life—food and shelter. In addition, 12,000 more families, still more destitute, must continue to receive relief.

In the long history of St. Louis, no more terrible crisis has arisen. Approximately one-eighth of the population faces starvation and eviction. Until last week, it was hoped that special taxation by the Board of Aldermen would tide the situation over for a few months, but failure of the sales and stock taxes, estimated to yield $496,000, dashed that hope. Since such taxes are figured as of July 1, it is the opinion of the License Collector that, even were they passed now, they could not be made effective until next year.

More than $1,000,000 was raised from private persons in the crisis campaign of last winter. In nearly every office and factory in St. Louis, employees gave 1 per cent or more of their salaries to the fund, and their gifts were augmented by employers. This money is still being paid in monthly installments and, in view of reduced wages and salaries, the success of another campaign of this kind is to be doubted. In Washington, Mr. Hoover haggles with Congress over the big relief bill, which contains a fund of $200,000,000 for relief to states. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has already petitioned Gov. Caulfield to apply for a $2,000,000 loan for St. Louis from this fund, when and if it is passed. If this money is forthcoming, it would be a godsend, but even so large a sum will not carry St. Louis through the winter.

A relief bond issue, it appears, will have to be passed by the voters next November. Mr. Neun has proposed one of $5,000,000; Mr. Nolte one of $3,000,000, and the Republican City Committee has suggested a combination public works and relief bond issue of $10,000,000. Tomorrow's meeting must consider what is to be done about this.

It will also have to consider the more urgent question of caring for 25,000 destitute families for the remainder of the year. If the Federal relief bill fails, heroic measures will have to be resorted to. St. Louisans cannot and will not be permitted to starve.

ANOTHER DRY LAME DUCK.

In few campaigns involving a seat in the United States Senate was the prohibition issue more clear-cut than in the contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination in North Carolina. Senator Cameron Morrison, who holds his office by appointment, has been an ardent supporter of Federal prohibition. Robert H. Reynolds, who defeated Senator Morrison by more than 100,000 votes, the largest majority North Carolina voters have ever given a candidate, is an outspoken advocate of repeal. Mr. Reynolds' tremendous majority should answer the question about what the South will do with the Democratic repeal plank. Certainly it answers it so far as North Carolina is concerned, and that State has long been a center of prohibition sentiment. What Senator Morrison's defeat indicates is that such sentiment is changing rapidly and unmistakably. Incidentally, Senator Morrison is the second member of the Senate's prohibition bloc to be made a lame duck by this year's primaries. Smith Wildman Brookhart was the first. Nor is it at all certain that they will not have company by the time the melancholy days of November arrive.

JOBS FOR A MILLION WORKERS.

It seemed a vast and perhaps impossible task when the nation-wide campaign to find a million jobs for unemployed men and women was launched six months ago. Unemployment was increasing, business continued to mark time, buying power and employing power were still falling. Hence the American Legion's announcement that the campaign, conducted with the co-operation of the American Federation of Labor and the Association of National Advertisers, has been successfully completed, marks a highly creditable achievement. Many of the jobs were merely temporary, of course, but each one tabulated was said to account for six months' work.

It has meant long and intensive effort to reach the goal, and it is good news to learn that the machinery used for the drive will not be abandoned, but will continue working to bring the job and the jobless together. These organizations have shown the way while the quibbles over Government activities went on. Their efforts could not solve the problem in its entirety, but they have prevented much distress.

THREE-CENT LETTER POSTAGE.

Until yesterday, 2-cent letter postage had been an established policy of the Postoffice Department since 1885, except for a war-time interval of about two years. The latter increase to 3 cents was in keeping with the time. Everything—wages, rent, wheat—was going up, and it was only natural that letter rates should do the same. It was a minor inconvenience of the period, like meatless days, sugar rationing and the shortage of silk shirts. Now, however, all costs (save taxes) are on the toboggan and incomes are reduced, yet the letter writer must pay 50 per cent more for mailing his missives. The public will, however, accept the increase as a useful emergency measure, like the group of taxes that took effect two weeks ago. Wholly inexcusable in normal times, despite the steadily mounting postal deficits, the increase has become a necessary action, to be borne during the Treasury's fiscal crisis.

The Postoffice estimates an increase of $130,000,000 in revenue from the new rate. This allows for a 1 per cent loss in mail volume because of the increase, and a transfer of 5 per cent of volume from first class mail to third class, or circular, mail. However, this alone will not prevent a deficit, which was estimated at $200,000,000 for the fiscal year just ended. Some $50,000,000 more will be saved in wages under the economy bill, providing for furloughs or pay cuts for Federal employees. The remainder will be made up by increases in other rates.

There remain several unexplored possibilities for reducing the postal deficit which should have been thoroughly examined before the increases were put into effect. The ship mail subsidy accounted for $19,000,000 of the $130,000,000 deficit in 1931. The loss on air mail totaled $17,000,000; the franking privilege cost $1,000,000; interdepartmental free mail privileges cost $10,000,000; the waste on excessive postoffice rentals and leases reached an impressive but unestimated total. Correction of these abuses might not have eliminated the need for 3-cent postage, but it would have shut off wastes and given backing to the plea of necessity for increasing rates in the only postal activity that pays a profit. It is not too late for reform in these branches of the service; in fact, reform now is needed more than ever before.

A PREPOSTEROUS PROPOSAL.

The owners of the street railway system want to sell the property to the city at approximately what they paid for it and retain the right to operate it over the 30 years in which the municipality would be acquiring the system out of earnings.

The city will do nothing of the kind. It has already said through its elected representatives what it will do. It will buy such parts of the system as can be incorporated in a modern transportation system, and it will pay for them upon the basis of their declining value rather than upon a valuation they might enjoy under a franchise.

That is the policy agreed upon by the Board of Aldermen in accepting the recommendations of its special committee, and it is a pure presumption for the owners of the property to believe they can get better terms for themselves.

Before any more such absurd proposals are made, it would be a good idea for the joint committee created for the purpose of carrying out the city's declared policy not to hold any more secret meetings with the owners of the street railway system.

Secret meetings result only in proposals too ridiculous to be made in public, and they are therefore a waste of precious time.

MORE ROOM ON THE HIGHWAYS.

A Declaration of Independence for harassed automobile drivers in the St. Louis district should have been written on this Fourth of July. The State Highway Commission has the means to write it, and should be speedily convinced of the necessity.

The pronouncement should read somewhat as follows: Wider roads; underpasses at all main intersections; more routes; elimination of bad curves and grades and blind spots. "Wider roads" does not mean gargantuan highways at this time, but room for four lanes of traffic, or possibly six, where only two lanes creep along now. "More roads" is not a call for cluttering up a peaceful suburban countryside with busy thoroughfares, but a demand for greater diversity of routes in the adjacent counties, to break up the bulk of travel.

This Fourth of July, as usual, saw the State roads leading into St. Louis crowded far beyond capacity. In many instances there were no convenient alternate routes. The condition often is duplicated on a fine Sunday evening. St. Louis and its suburbs need relief badly. The primary burden of granting it rests with the State Highway Commission, but the county and the suburban towns must continue to do their share in providing broad rights of way and handy through arteries. The State has set an example by some of its recent construction near St. Louis.

A STORY TO TELL.

The retirement of Dr. Edwin Brant Frost as director of Yerkes Observatory removes from the field of experimental science not only a foremost astronomer, but as well the American who, perhaps next to Helen Keller, has triumphed most completely over blindness. Connected with Yerkes Observatory since 1893, Dr. Frost has been a work for which sight would seem to be absolutely necessary. Yet he has been totally blind for 12 years, since then carrying on his study of astrophysics, for which he blazed a path as a young contemplator of the heavens at Dartmouth back in his native upper New England. His chief work has been to compute the speeds, masses, directions and compositions of astronomical bodies by spectroscopic analyses of their lights. Now that he has quit the observatory which crowns the bluff above College Camp, overlooking blue Lake Geneva in Southern Wisconsin, Dr. Frost is to devote himself to the writing of an autobiography. It should be an exciting tale. The white-haired scientist-philosopher, whose unseeing eyes have gone on discerning the mysteries of a realm that most of us do not see even remotely, has a story that warrants the telling.

FEW CHANCES FOR TRANSIENT LABOR.

Distant pastures always look greener, but in the present economic drouth, the boy or young man who stays in the home pasture is better off than those who take to the road and follow the lure of distant prospects. This is the substance of warnings issued by persons closely in touch with the employment situation over the country. "Opportunities for work are no better in distant cities than they are at home," says Fred C. Croton, assistant director of the President's Organization on Unemployment Relief. Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Federal Children's Bureau, points out that the chance for itinerants to pick up odd jobs has disappeared, for all communities reserve these for their own unemployed. Unless the ambitious youth has arranged in advance for work, weariness and disillusionment will be the probable results of his wanderings. The bread line will be his ultimate destination, and even there he will encounter the policy of aiding local cases before those of outsiders.

Galling as it may be for aspiring young men to remain at home without work while the great outside world beckons, the home community nevertheless is the best place for them. They are known at home and will benefit by any openings that may arise. They have shelter there, and opportunities for schooling and recreation while waiting for the job. The indomitable spirit of youth unfortunately must adapt itself to the times, just as so many other factors of the nation have had to adjust themselves.

WE SIDE WITH THE PRIESTS.

St. Louis last Monday sounded like an active sector on the western front as the city engaged in the childish business of setting off fireworks, with the usual result. More than 300 persons were painfully injured, and the cause of liberty and national independence, which the explosions were dedicated to, was not advanced an inch. For 364 days of the year, we avoid firearms and flimsy powder bombs, yet on the Fourth this discretion is cast to the winds and the air is filled with loud noises, stray bullets and pyrotechnical displays. It is absurd and nonsensical, and we cheekily place ourselves on the side of the old maids who have been campaigning for a sane Fourth for many years. Prissy they and we may be, but the case is made by the casualty list.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER.

America and the Lausanne Conference

By Walter Lippmann.

IT may be said that an economic solution of the reparations problem has been reached at Lausanne, and that what remains to be done is to adapt the solution to popular sentiment in the various countries. Thus it is agreed that Germany should not be asked to pay anything for at least three years. It is agreed that the payments she makes thereafter must be so small that the whole of it would not at the outside be equal to much more than two annuities out of 60-odd called for under the Young plan. It is agreed that these small payments shall be due only if or when in the judgment of a neutral body, the World Bank at Basel, Germany can borrow the money to make them.

Although there is still some dispute as to the exact amount which Germany is to promise she will try to borrow, the creditors appear to have committed themselves to three principles: no payments for three years, a small cash payment as a final settlement, this cash settlement to be made only if Germany credit is good enough to permit the sale of her bonds. Once the creditors agree to these principles at Lausanne, they will, of course, mark the upper limit of any demand they can ever again make upon Germany. More than this the creditors will not obtain, whether or not the agreement is ratified by the various parliaments.

Henceforth, Germany's liability under reparations cannot be larger than the interest and amortization on a loan of about $750,000,000. The German taxpayer might have to find about $100,000,000 for 15 years. Under the Young plan, he had to find five times as much for 25 years and nearly four times as much for another 20 years.

The proposed settlement would bring to an end the existing reparations system. This system was arranged so that Germany should pay the whole debt owed by the Allies to the United States and a small surplus, most of which went to France.

Under the Lausanne proposals, Germany would at the outside pay enough to cover three European payments to the United States, and even these payments would not begin for three years and would be contingent upon Germany's ability to borrow the money. It is plain, therefore, that if the creditors make this agreement at Lausanne, what is owed to them and still obligated to pay all that they owe to the United States.

It is easy to see why M. Herriot, who on paper at least has made the largest concessions, is standing out for an agreement that the plan should not be ratified in Europe until there is a settlement with the United States. But what, in fact, would this mean? It would mean that M. Herriot would not, on this issue, have to risk defeat in the French Chamber during the next six months. M. Herriot will have plenty of other troubles, and it would be cruel to ask him to do so unpopular a thing as to forgive France's debt while France's creditor is adamant.

credit of Germany cannot be restored.

In dealing with the United States, there can be little doubt that Congress would be most firm if the impression were created that Europe had contrived a situation in which America must yield or take the blame for prolonging the financial disorder. The temper of Congress is such that it is most likely to be magnanimous if there is no moral compulsion from Europe. I do not think any competent American observer would dispute the statement that the most promising way to deal with America is for Europe to make the settlement now contemplated at Lausanne, and then to open negotiations here.

This procedure involves no financial risk. For the European creditors cannot get any more out of Germany just because they fail to get complete relief from America. On the other hand, if they arrive to negotiate, having burned their bridges and solved the problem in Europe, their moral position here will be invincible. They will have testified to their conviction that the prompt liquidation of the war debts is desirable, and that the whole agitation does not conceal hidden political maneuvers. It will cost them nothing to do what is right and most expedient.

No American is in a position to say what kind of settlement can be made here, just as no Frenchman was in a position 30 days ago to say that France would be as generous and as far-sighted as France has shown herself to be. It should be noted, however, that the Republican platform is silent on the subject of debts, and this silence signified a realization that a new debt is necessary. No responsible Republican official at Chicago had any doubt on that point.

The Democratic platform has a direct statement opposing "cancellation" of debts, but this sentence did not appear in the original draft as it came from Gov. Roosevelt's advisers. Their view is to be found in a few sentences earlier, where there is a declaration for "the maintenance of good faith and of good will in financial obligations." The anti-cancellation clause was forced into the platform by Mr. McAdoo and the Hearst influence; it was accepted, regretfully but on the understanding that a debt can be radically readjusted without being canceled. Events at Lausanne show how far it is possible to go without "canceling" a debt.

There is thus every reason to believe that, if matters are conducted with tact and consideration, the American people will be just as reluctant as reasonable, though they are as reluctant to be reasonable, as their European neighbors. But even if this prophecy should prove to be untrue, there is nothing that Europe can gain by keeping their embroiled over reparations because it fears that the American Congress is irreconcilable. (Copyright, 1932.)

NOT A REAL BOLT.

From the Kansas City Journal-Post.
GEORGE NORRIS of Nebraska, the United States Senator, regardless of the worth of his ideas, has bolted the Republican party again and will support Roosevelt. He could hardly do otherwise, in view of the fact that he bolted Hoover in 1928 and Hoover since then has been the conservative that Norris and everyone knew he would be. But the Senator's action can hardly be called a bolt. He is not and has not been for a quarter of a century in any sense a party man. He is merely a Norris Republican. The real Norris bolt would be for him to support the organization ticket.

Home, Boys, Home!

From the New York Herald Tribune.

ACCORDING to a police census, the "bonus army" in Washington still numbers about 12,000 men. But while commenting them on the excellent restraint they have shown in their "occupation" of the capital, isn't it about time to inquire why they do not recognize that the jig is up?

There is not the slightest chance in the world that the legislation they seek will be revived in this session of Congress. In the meantime, their mess fund has diminished to the vanishing point, they are reported in grave danger of an epidemic, their leadership has disintegrated into factions and the political stage has shifted from Washington to their home constituencies. Barring revolutionary agitation, which they have been at such pains to discountenance, there is absolutely nothing to keep them where they are and every reason for their return whence they came.

It is not to be expected, perhaps, that the logic of their present situation will immediately enter the minds of men foolish enough to have undertaken their heira in the first place, but one may hope that its gradual penetration will persuade them to accept offers of free or low-rate transportation now being dangled before them, and that soon they will have dispersed.

The whole episode has been full of pathos from the start. If left to themselves, it would never have occurred even to this lunatic fringe of ex-servicemen to march on Washington to demand the payment of a fictitious debt in money that didn't exist. They were encouraged to do so as the result of a conspiracy between politicians anxious to buy votes and professional veterans anxious to buy followers; and in doing so, they have cobbed their goose. No one will pretend now that the challenge which their invasion constituted did anything but harm to their cause.

The defeat of the Patman bonus bill in the Senate was the first that Congress has enacted out to major legislation favorable to veterans. Very probably it would have come in any case, since the provisions of the bill were preposterous on their face; but coming as it did in defiance of a real show of force, even though an orderly one, it seems more than likely to establish a precedent.

Neither Congress nor the country will forget the threat, and if we are not much mistaken, they will bristle at any subsequent demands from the same source. Indeed, it would not be surprising if in the swing of the pendulum some of the excessive privileges to veterans already incorporated in law were lopped off. In any event, their cause now is to lie low.

JOBS ON THE BLOCK.

From the Rocky Mountain News.

ACCORDING to dispatches from Hastings, Minn., Mayor Charles Lucious of that city has had the municipal wage scale set aside and has been auctioning city jobs to the lowest bidder. Policemen who had been the lowest bidder, were displaced by bidders willing to work for less. Even the city street sweeper lost his job to a man willing to eke out an existence on less. A son offered to do for $35 a month what his mother had been doing for $75. She was rehired and he was put in her place. If these stories are correct, here is a city willing to auction off its safety, its protection from lawbreakers, its civic integrity to the lowest bidder; a city ready to do with no government at all. And if wage scales generally were to be thus hammered down to the barest subsistence level, we might as well say farewell forever to the American standard of living.

MARKET ST. PAVING FACES NEW DELAYS

Controversy Over Car Tracks and Failure to Move Buildings Tie-Up Work.

City officials are concerned over the prospect that paving of widened Market street will not be completed this year. Final judgment in the protracted condemnation suit over this improvement was entered six weeks ago, but new sources of delay have arisen.

No steps have been taken yet towards paving the 17-block section of the thoroughfare between Vandeventer avenue and Twentieth street, due to the controversy over abandonment of the Public Service Co. tracks and new arrangements for trolley and bus lines. The track question is before the State Public Service Commission.

If the tracks are removed there will be a question over the cost of paving the space they have occupied. The car company is required to pave its track area. City officials say it is too late to have the paving done west of Twentieth street this year.

Failure of property owners to remove their structures from the right-of-way of the widening, in the three-block section of Market street between Fifteenth and Eighteenth streets and in the eight-block section between Third and Eleventh streets, threatens to delay paving of those districts. The needed strip must be free of buildings by the middle of August if paving is to be carried out this year, city engineers declare.

It is proposed to award contracts about Aug. 25 for paving the two

LEE FIRED WILSON MAN FOR 'DISLOYALTY'

State School Superintendent
Says W. W. Gibbany Was Candidate's Adviser.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 7.—State Superintendent of Schools Charles A. Lee today denied his recent dismissal of W. W. Gibbany of Columbia as statistician in his department, was due to support by Gibbany of former State Senator Francis M. Wilson of Platte County for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He said the discharge was due to "disloyalty."

Lee declared he discharged Gibbany for "disloyalty to me, to other members of the department, and to the public school system as a whole, as shown by the correspondence which passed between him and Senator Wilson." Lee is a supporter of State Senator Russell L. Dearmont of Cape Girardeau for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

While stating the Democratic gubernatorial contest had not entered into the dismissal, Lee said, in referring to Gibbany, that he had discovered "I had in my employ not only Mr. Wilson's confidential adviser, as he called him, but was also furnishing him (Wilson) with a secretary at state expense."

"Gossip" in Newspapers. The superintendent said his statement of his reason for Gibbany's discharge, which has been unexplained since the latter's removal, was prompted by "political gossip" in newspapers supporting Wilson, that Gibbany was discharged for political reasons.

Lee refused to make public correspondence in his possession, which he said had passed between Gibbany and Wilson. He said he would not make it public "unless I am forced" to do so, although it would make fine political reading. He said the nature of the correspondence was such that he immediately discharged Gibbany.

The superintendent said he had discovered the correspondence several weeks ago and dismissed Gibbany, but reinstated him conditionally. The conditions were not carried out, Lee said, and Gibbany again was discharged.

While Lee refused to divulge the contents of the correspondence, he indicated Gibbany had been furnishing Wilson with information which would aid him in his campaign.

Letter From Gibbany.

In the interim between the two discharges, Lee said Gibbany had written him a letter in which he stated, Lee said, that "I realized I had overstepped my limitation as a member of your department in planning with Senator Wilson for the development and use of propaganda which would not only tend to prejudice the rural voters against Senator Dearmont's nomination, but which would reflect unfavorably and unjustly on your work as State Superintendent of Public Schools."

Gibbany promised, Lee asserted, that he would ask Wilson not to use in the campaign any of the "propaganda" furnished by him. Gibbany refused to comment when he was reached by telephone at Albany, Mo. "Let Lee do all of the talking," Gibbany said. "I won't make any comment. Let any statement he wants to make. I don't see why he won't let the thing rest."

Wilson, reached by telephone at Moberly, said he had corresponded with Gibbany and might have some statement to make later, after he had examined his correspondence files.

Gibbany had been an employee in Lee's department since 1923. In addition to his duties as statistician he served as an unofficial publicity agent for the department.

$20,000 IN SPECIAL BEQUESTS IN W. F. WOERNER ESTATE

Two Sons and Widow Share These and Latter Receives Residue of Property in Trust.

The will of William F. Woerner, an attorney and Democratic nominee for Mayor in 1909, provides for $20,000 in special bequests and then leaves the residue of the estate in trust for his widow, Mrs. Agnes J. Woerner. The will was filed in Probate Court at Clayton yesterday.

Of the special bequests, one for $5000 is made to his widow, and three others of equal amount to his sons, Gabriel and William F. Woerner Jr., and to his deceased daughter, Mrs. Ruth Stewart, an aviator. Under the terms of the will, the share of Mrs. Stewart, who was killed in an airplane crash last January, will go to her brothers. In addition, they will receive $10,000 each from the residuary estate when they marry.

Mrs. Woerner and Edward A. Gessler, a broker, are named administrators of the trust fund and Mrs. Woerner executor of the estate. Woerner, who was 61 years old and lived at 6485 Wydown boulevard, died June 27.

Daughter of W. S. Vore to Wed.

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—The engagement of Miss Beatrice Vore, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Vore, to Dr. John J. Shaw was announced yesterday. The wedding will take place in the late summer or early fall. Miss Vore became acquainted with Dr. Shaw at the time he was called in to attend her father, who is the Philadelphia Republican organization leader, in August, 1928, when he was stricken with paralysis at Atlantic City.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE engagement of Miss Evelyn Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Johnson of Honolulu, and Robert McNeely Cochran of St. Louis, son of Mrs. George P. Crocker of Williamsport, Pa., was announced today at a luncheon given by Mrs. Johnson at her home in Honolulu.

The bride is a graduate of Vassar College, class of 1930, and is a member of the Junior League. She has visited in St. Louis several times, most recently as the guest of Miss Rebecca Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Warrington Baldwin, 23 Westmoreland place. Mr. Cochran is a graduate of Princeton University, class of 1927, and the Harvard School of Business Administration, 1929. He has been living in St. Louis for three years and has been prominently identified with the younger social set. His present home is at 6446 Kingsbury boulevard. He is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Steedman, 12 Westmoreland place.

The wedding will take place late in September in Honolulu. Miss Trimble Hoblitzelle, 6450 Ellenwood avenue, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George K. Hoblitzelle, sailed Wednesday, July 6, on the Bremen, to spend the summer in Europe. She was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Kalich of New York, and plans to go to Europe until late September or early October.

Miss Hoblitzelle's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hitchcock, whose marriage was a fashionable event two years ago, are in Bermuda on their honeymoon and will return home the first week in August. Mrs. Hitchcock was Miss Eleanor Hoblitzelle.

Miss Adele Kimball of the Kings-Way Hotel, who has been in Europe for several weeks, has returned to Paris after a visit in Venice with her cousin, Miss Mary Landon Baker of Chicago at the Palazzo Dona della Madonneta. In Paris she will visit relatives, including the Countess de Nougé, and a group of friends. She will return to Venice in September for a second visit before returning home.

The Marchese and Marchesa Antonio Mattel, the latter formerly Miss Georgetown Madill, daughter of Mr. Edward S. Robert of St. Louis and Clarville, Mo., have been visiting in Sorrento, Italy, for a few days as the guests of Mrs. Charles A. Madill, also formerly of St. Louis, and her daughters, Miss Delphine Madill and Mrs. Henry Saville Jerome. The Marchese and Marchesa Mattel are en route from Capri to Rome, where the Marchese will be on temporary duty in the Vatican. They will live in Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Woods, 12 Carrswold, who with their daughter, Mrs. Albert E. Happel, 7219 Maryland avenue, are spending two months in Europe, will sail from Plymouth on the Lafayette July 26. They are now motoring in England. Returning on the same ship will be Mr. and Mrs. C. D. P. Hamilton, 625 Skinker boulevard, who sailed for Europe about two weeks ago.

Mrs. Leslie Dana of Brentmoor left Tuesday for Wianno, Mass., to occupy her summer home for the rest of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Dana are now in Europe.

NISLEY GALLERY OF BEAUTIES

Madame du Barri

introduced in 1769 to Louis, King of France had hair so fair that it shone like palest gold, skin likened to a rose leaf fallen in cream, a figure perfect in line, poise and its allurements. For twenty years thereafter she remained the uncrowned Queen of France.

Nisley Beauties in White!

We picture but a few—

Reclamer sandal of fine white calf was created by Nisley Style Bureau and has made a tremendous "hit." Also provided in black kid and patent leather.

Sale Price on every pair Always!

EXPLANATION!

Our headline is as true a fact as the answer to two times two. No informed person disputes it! Nisley shoes are the exception to the rule of judging quality by the price. It is quality so fine as to compare only with quality shoes sold at high prices.

Flexibility! Fine workmanship! Perfection in fitting! These truths are only made possible by the short pathway from our factory door to your feet as shown by—

1. The 56 Nisley stores act as 56 doorways to the two Nisley owned factories.
2. This allows continuous instead of seasonal factory operation and thereby tremendously reduces production cost of your shoes.
3. A process new to shoe manufacture, adopted after three years of testing, produces finer quality that does not lose its shape!
4. Nisley stores and factories operate as one unit and require but one small profit.
5. The large volume not only cuts costs but allows each store to be constantly supplied with full size range of 2½ to 9, in widths AAAA to E.
6. This method also allows frequent instead of purely seasonal presentation of new styles by the Nisley Style Bureau.

SENATE REJECTS HOME LOAN BANK PLAN OF HOOVER

Votes for Substitute Proposal of Couzens Which Broadens Lending Power of R. F. C.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 7.—President Hoover's proposal for a home loan banking system was turned down yesterday by the Senate, which substituted a plan creating a division in the Reconstruction Corporation to aid the home owner.

It was the first of the administration's reconstruction proposals to be rejected by the Senate, and a motion to reconsider was entered by Senator Carey (Rep.) of Wyoming. The vote was 32 to 34.

The substitute proposal, offered by Couzens (Rep.) of Michigan, provides for loans from the corporation up to an aggregate total of $400,000,000 to the following types of organizations:

Building and loan associations, saving and loan associations, cooperative banks, homestead associations, savings banks, trust companies and other banking concerns.

Couzens, in urging adoption of the substitute, said it would set up no permanent agency for handling real estate paper, but would use the facilities of the Reconstruction Corporation and its branches.

Couzens' Argument for Plan.
"There isn't a single word in the bill which will help the little home owner," he said, referring to the administration's plan, which was backed by Republican Leader Watson of Indiana.

"It's a way for financial institutions to liquify their frozen assets," Couzens continued, "without a word that provides they shall pass on a dollar to the little home owner or refuse to foreclose a mortgage."

His substitute, he asserted, would provide quicker help for really credits, as it could be put to work at once, while the Watson bill "cannot be made effective inside of a year or help in the present distress."

Watson retorted the bill's purpose remained intact, and that it would aid the home owner.

"Building and loan associations and others are waiting to foreclose in the hope this bill will pass, so they could tide things over," Watson said.

As for remarks that provision in administration bill for $125,000,000 and initial capital stock for the home loan banking system was too small, Watson said nearly $2,000,000,000 would be needed to meet the needs of every home owner.

Before adoption of the Couzens substitute, the Senate agreed to a proposal by Walcott (Rep.) of Connecticut limiting the life of the system to 15 years, with only five for active lending purposes.

Frazier Offers Amendment.

Immediately after the substitution of the Couzens bill, Frazier (Rep.) of North Dakota proposed as a rider an amendment to refinance the farm mortgage debt at 1 1/2 per cent.

He thwarted a move by Bingham (Rep.) of Connecticut to present another amendment which would legalize 3 1/2 per cent bear.

The Frazier plan endorsed by the National Farmers' Union and other agriculture organizations, was introduced some months ago, reported on favorably by the Agriculture Committee and put on the calendar.

It provides for issuing bonds and currency to supply the funds necessary to refinance the debts, with loans to be made up to 80 per cent of the farm value. The loans would be amortized at the rate of 1 1/2 per cent yearly.

Creation of a strong, central Federal farm loan bank with authorized capital stock of $150,000,000 was provided yesterday in a bill introduced by Senator Thomas (Rep.) of Idaho.

The bill says that additional capital may be subscribed, if necessary, with consent of Congress.

The bank's headquarters would be in Washington and branches would be set up in each of the farm loan districts, the bill permits merging of existing farm loaning or joint stock land banks.

Loans would be made as under existing laws, for 10 to 50 years, at up to 3 1/2 per cent interest.

Frazier said he believed the $2,500,000,000 allowed under his measure would be sufficient to take care of existing farm mortgage indebtedness.

"The statement has been made that the intermediate credit banks and the Federal Land Banks are functioning in the interest of the farmer," he said. "I hold in my hand a blank chattel mortgage which I understand is sent to farmers who fail to meet the payment on their loans, it calls for interest payment of 3 per cent. I am told that this is the custom of those institutions set up to help the farmer."

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Funeral services will be held here today for Frederick H. Newell, one of the founders of the United States Reclamation Service and of the American Association of Engineers, who died in his office yesterday from a heart attack. Burial will be at Needham, Mass.

Born in Bradford, Pa., in 1861, Newell became attached to the United States Geological Survey in 1888 after being graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He became chief engineer of the Reclamation Service in 1901, when it was established. Resigning in 1915, he later became head of the civil engineering department at the University of Illinois for five years. Since 1923 he had been a consulting engineer here.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The rescue of 100 farm families marooned by the turbulent Neosho River was reported yesterday by Emporia policemen and firemen. The rescued families lived in a flooded area three miles wide, extending from 12 miles northeast to 12 miles southwest of Emporia. The majority, most of whom lived a few miles northeast of Emporia on truck farms, were taken from porches and roofs of the low-lying dwellings to the homes of neighbors on higher ground.

After its rampage, which included washing away many miles of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad tracks, disrupting the Santa Fe railway service and blocking highways, the Neosho was receding slowly today.

Elsewhere in the State flood conditions were not serious. The body of W. C. Wilcox was recovered from Mulberry Creek near Dodge City. He was swept from his horse while attempting to save some livestock.

they have been accustomed to do on a larger quantity of rice.

"The summation of it all is that the commission has really created in the Yangtze Valley a market for wheat and flour, and if some arrangement can be subsequently worked out whereby this educational process may continue, there certainly are enormous potentialities for the outlet of American grain."

Money to Relief Work.
Briggs denied the sales of wheat for cash were in competition with private traders, and said the sales were ethical, were based on the emergency due to the flood conditions and the Chinese-Japanese trouble, and that all money received went back into relief work, being used for transportation of relief wheat to interior points.

Present supplies were practically exhausted, Briggs concluded, and the Flood Relief Commission, faced with the possibility of ceasing its efforts, was planning a more extensive program "predicated on its ability to obtain additional supplies of wheat on liberal credit terms."

penditures would exceed the limit fixed by the Missouri law, which is approximately $15,000, the candidate not being required to include his traveling expenses in the total.

At a meeting of the Women's Jefferson Club in Kansas City a month ago, Clark invited the other candidates to join in a request for an investigation. Hay at the same meeting expressed his willingness to co-operate. Burnes had spoken before Clark, and had no opportunity to speak again. Howell said he "believed in fighting Republicans, not Democrats," and that he would not make any such reflection on his opponents as to suggest that they were spending money in the primary not in accordance with the primary law."

TO CONTINUE DRIVE FOR JOBS Col. McBride Says 7783 Positions Have Been Obtained.

The St. Louis "War Against Depression Campaign" will continue, although the national campaign has reached its objective of 1,000,000 jobs, according to Col. H. D. McBride, general chairman of the local campaign.

During the last seven weeks, he said, 7783 jobs have been obtained, including 3154 permanent ones.

STOCKS GIVE WAY EASILY, TURNOVER IS MODERATE

TODAY'S NEW YORK STOCK MARKET (COMPLETE) SPECIAL ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE

NEW YORK, July 7.—Total sales today on the New York Stock Exchange amounted to 754,431 shares, compared with 737,930 from Jan. 1 to date were 179,816,339 shares, compared with 446,417,847 a year ago and 501,137,379 two years ago. Following is a complete list of transactions giving sales, high, low, close and net changes.

Losses of 1 to More Than 3 Points Are Numerous—Individual Feature With Wide Downward Range.

STOCK PRICE TREND. Thru. Wed. Number of advances, 169. 229. Number of declines, 191. 120. Stocks unchanged, 100. 121. Total issues traded, 460. 470.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 7.—The stock market finally wearied of trying to keep its head above water today, and was submerged in a wave of selling in the late trading. Losses of 1 or more than 3 points were numerous. The turnover was only about 800,000 shares, but trading was quick on the decline, and the closing tone was weak.

Tone of comment from Washington over the relief measure tended to counterbalance reports from Lausanne. The trickle of buying which has supported the market in recent sessions disappeared in the late dealings, and prices gave way easily.

American Telephone broke more than three points to a new low under 76. Losses of two points or so appeared in American Can, Consolidated Gas, Allied Chemical, Case, Eastman and Coca-Cola. U. S. Steel and several other prominent issues lost more than a point.

International Shoe was again a soft spot, breaking more than six points. Auburn and International Business Machines ranged down nearly as much. The Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit issues, and American preferred stocks were firm spots, and International Telephone and American Foreign Power sold up a little for a time in the early afternoon.

The dollar firmed somewhat in the foreign exchange markets. Sterling cables ruled at 85.67, off 1/2 of a cent, and the leading continental currencies were slightly lower. The Canadian dollar yielded 1/4 of a cent, ruling at 87 1/2 cents.

Shoe Stock Down. Foreign bonds were again steady to firm, and there was buying of such equities as American and Foreign Power and International Telephone. In commodities, the wheat advance in hog prices has attracted some attention in financial quarters, and presumably was responsible for the uptick in Armour of Delaware preferred.

The New York traction advanced in response to the Mayor's call for a unification conference.

The break in International Shoe carried that issue down to a price of less than half the year's peak of 44 1/2. The company issued its earnings statement for the six months ended May 31, showing net of $3,677,971, a reduction from $4,512,832 in the like period a year previously. While the drop in earnings was moderate compared with the shrinkage in many other lines, payment of dividends at the current rate of $3.43, 74 for the six-month period, has been commanding high prices in loan market, making the short position costly.

The Stock Exchange's monthly tabulation showed that borrowings by members as of July 1 was only little more than 1 1/2 per cent of the total quoted value of all listed shares, a new low level of indebtedness.

Further testimony to the condition of extreme liquidity now existing, in 1932 the ratio of borrowings to the total quoted value of listed shares went well over 9 per cent. The total quoted value as of July 1 was $15,634,474,777, in contrast to the 1929 peak at $9,668,276,854.

Renewed Rate 2 Per Cent. Call money renewed at 2 per cent on the New York Stock Exchange today, the rate having changed today, the rate having been at 2 1/2 per cent. One year ago it was 1 1/2 per cent, but the rate stiffened after England dropped the gold standard last September. In December it went as high as 3 1/2 per cent. Lowering of the call rate follows the recent reduction in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate to 2 1/2 per cent.

Money brokers attached no particular significance to the change, pointing out that the former rate had been out of line with other short term credit charges, and that call funds outside the exchange had been available at 1 per cent for a considerable period. There has been no increase, it was said, in the amount of money available for loanings, while demand for new accommodations has been small.

AVERAGE MARKET VALUE OF LISTED STOCKS $11.89 JULY 1

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 7.—The average market value of shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange was $11.89 on July 1, against $12.23 on June 1, the exchange announced. The July 1 market value of listed shares was $11,633,478,577, contrasted with $11,614,061,080 on June 1, a decrease of $19,417,497.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

LONDON, July 7.—Trading was more cheerful on the Stock Exchange. Further advances were registered, especially in Argentine rails and gilt-edged securities. Foreign issues and Paris favorites reacted irregularly.

PARIS, July 7.—The Bourse opened strong but profit-taking reacted soon. Most gains were lost. French international shares were irregular and oils were firm. The market closed heavy.

BERLIN, July 7.—Prices on the Bourse opened fractionally weaker, recovered lost losses but again reacted and closed steady.

No Change in Rediscount Rate. NEW YORK, July 7.—The New York Federal Reserve Bank made no announcement today of any change in the rediscount rate of 2 1/2 per cent.

India's Bank Rate Cut. By the Associated Press. BOMBAY, July 7.—The Imperial Bank of India reduced its discount rate from 5 to 4 per cent.

Wholesale Cattle. Carloadings and receipts from connect were 48,471, as compared with 60,945 in June last year.

INSURANCE COMMISSIONER UPHELD IN SUIT OVER FUNDS

Supreme Court Rejects Demand of British Concern to Require Production of Funds.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 7.—The Missouri Supreme Court on today upheld Joseph B. Thompson, State Superintendent of Insurance, and the Cole County Circuit Court in a suit involving the handling of fire and windstorm insurance funds which are impounded in Thompson's custody.

The North British & Mercantile Insurance Co., Ltd., sought to compel Thompson to require "good and sufficient surety bonds" from banks in which the funds are deposited.

Thompson, under an order of the Cole County Circuit Court, had allowed the banks to pledge certain of their assets, including Liberty bonds as surety.

Judge John T. White, who wrote today's opinion, said the fund had been accumulated "without authority of law," since Thompson refused the company's request for a rate increase of 16 2/3 per cent, adding: "The relation, having defied the restrictions of the rating statute, now seeks its protection for the fruits of that violation."

The trial court has inherent power to protect that fund. It is not bound by the provisions of section 1874, which applies only to a decrease of rates. The court may provide for the protection of the fund in any way which to the court seems feasible for the purpose.

Justice White called the relief demanded "an impossibility," since, under depressed business conditions and heavy losses of surety companies by reason of the closing of banks, it became practically impossible for depositors to procure surety bonds except at prohibitive cost.

AUCTION OF JOBLESS BARRED
Los Angeles Forbids Sale of Labor on Park Land.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, July 7.—The proposed auction of unemployed labor was forbidden by the Los Angeles Park Board in special session last night. The board acted on the advice of the City Attorney's office that such use of the park land would be improper.

Board members also said there had been a feeling, although it was not expressed at their meeting, the establishment of the auction might lead to demonstrations by Communists. It had been planned to establish the auction block, modeled after those used in pre-Civil War days, in the historic plaza of the Mexican district. Louis Hyman, special worker, who several years ago conducted auctions of war veterans' services in Boston, had sought the permit.

On Watch for Mexican Marauder.
MEXICO CITY, July 7.—The War Department has ordered Gen. Lucas Gonzalez, chief of operations in Chiapas, to stop a band of armed men reported planning to cross from Guatemala to the State of Chiapas, Mexico. The leader of the band, said to be a Mexican named Velasco, recently sought refuge in Guatemala from Mexico after depredations in Chiapas.

PROHIBITION AGENTS SHIFTED
T. W. Rowden Deputy Administrator for Western Missouri.
By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 7.—Changes in assignment of prohibition agents have been announced by George H. Wark, Prohibition Administrator for Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Thad W. Rowden, Assistant Prohibition Administrator, has been named Deputy Administrator for Western Missouri. The change followed an order from Washington abolishing the office of Assistant Administrator in all parts of the country. George P. Small, former Deputy Administrator, has been named chief investigator for Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

JUST LIKE OLD TIMES! DRYS IN NATIONAL CONVENTION

Meeting of delegates to the Prohibition Party assemblage which was called to order in Indianapolis last Tuesday to decide what ought to be done about candidates, platforms, and unruly Democrats and Republicans.

ALEXANDER III.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN.

TWENTY-FOUR hours of loneliness and cursing the originators of all traditions, and then came the great day. Our wedding was to be performed in the same Peterhof chapel where I took my oath of allegiance eight years previous, this particular place being chosen as a concession to my superstitious hatred for St. Petersburg.

The procedure of dressing Xenia, supervised by the Empress and the eldest ladies-in-waiting, lasted three hours. Her hair was arranged in long curls and the crown jewels affixed in an order too complicated for me to understand or for any human to describe intelligently. For all I knew, she wore the same silver dress, my sister Anastasia and all other grand duchesses wore for their weddings, and I remember seeing a diamond diadem on her head, several diamond ornaments on her corsage.

Finally I was allowed to see my bride, and the procession started. The Emperor led Xenia. I followed with the Empress on my arm. Our relatives formed a long line behind us, occupying their places in accordance with the order of succession. Misha and Olga, the kid brother and kid sister of Xenia, were winking at me and I had to strain every muscle of my face to keep from laughing. Everybody afterwards said that she shone as brightly as the sun.

"Divinely," my head was too occupied with the thoughts of our voyage to Ay-Todor to pay any attention to the prayers or to the singing. My mother had bought Ay-Todor, then a barren strip of land on the shores of the Black Sea, in the days of my early infancy. In a way we grew together. With the passing of the years it became a flourishing country estate covered with gardens, vineyards, lawns and coves. A lighthouse was built on its grounds to enable us to find our way on a foggy night. For us children that gliding strong light of Ay-Todor had become a symbol of happiness, and I wondered now whether Xenia would feel about it the same way my brothers and I had for over 20 years.

Going back to the palace we marched in the same order as before, except that I changed places with the Emperor and was walking with Xenia on my arm.

"I cannot wait to get rid of this silly dress," she complained to me in a whisper. "It must weigh pounds and pounds. I wish we did not have to sit through that dinner. Look at papa, he is all in."

We all could see how worn out the Emperor was, but even he could not order the cancellation of the boring gala dinner.

ONLY at 11 p. m. were we able to change into more comfortable clothes and off we drove in a court carriage to the suburban Rophia Palace to spend our wedding night. On our way we had to change horses at the coachman's house, not able to control them.

The Palace of Rophia and the adjoining village was brilliantly illuminated, so much so that our nervous coachman blinded by the lights, overlooked a small bridge and landed us—this horse, this carriage and two newlyweds—flat in the brook. Xenia fell at the bottom of the carriage, I on top of her, while the coachman and the footman were thrown into the water. Fortunately nobody was hurt and we were rescued promptly by the second carriage occupied by Xenia's servants. My wife's gorgeous ostrich-feathered hat and ermine-trimmed coat were covered with mud, my face and hands were absolutely black. We wondered what Gen. Wlasensky, who was to meet us at the entrance to the Rophia Palace, would say, but that experienced courier saw no reason to be concerned, it may have been a new fashion among the newlywed members of the imperial family to take a swim fully dressed.

THE premature death of Alexander III advanced the outbreak of the revolution by at least 25 years. The Marxian historians are certain to find this statement to their liking but one must not forget that each nation of the world has its own peculiarities. Beginning with October, 1894, three chief protagonists loomed in the arena of Russian internal strife: the Czar, the imperial family and the patron saint of the revolution. The sympathies of the remaining one hundred and fifty million odd Russians swung between throne and anarchy and it depended entirely on the cleverness of either one of the two adversaries to secure their somewhat lukewarm support.

I shall commence with the imperial family, which is appropriate because the lack of experience of Nicholas II made him solicit first of all the advice of his relatives. I have dealt upon several occasions with the different members of the family. This time I shall draw an unbiased characteristic of those who had reached maturity by 1894. Nicholas II had three living grandfathers, brothers of his grandfather, Emperor Alexander II: Grand Duke Constantin Nikolaevich, who had retired by that time to his estate in the Crimea and was enjoying the companionship of his second wife, a former ballerina; Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaevich Sr., who occupied the post of Inspector-General of the Russian Cavalry and who was exceedingly popular among the officers but whose advanced age precluded active participation in the affairs of state; Grand Duke Michael Nikolaevich—my father—who was presiding over the Imperial Council and whose advanced age precluded active participation in the affairs of state.

Choosing Hats

The bigger the hat the more fashionable for summer days, Dame Fashion has said. That means, of course, a big hat with types of costumes that big hats suit. The hats for travel actually are smaller than ever.

The WIFE of the MAN From TEXAS

MRS. GARNER and her husband, the Speaker of the House, hard at work in their Washington office. She has acted as his secretary for many years. Right, a close-up of MRS. GARNER.

For Thirty Years Mrs. John N. Garner Has Been Her Husband's Able Secretary.

—By MARGUERITE MARTYN—

WHEN and if Mrs. John N. Garner is called to the position of Second Lady of the Land, it is safe to say she will engage in no Dolle Gann-Alice Longworth social war about whether the Vice-President's lady is entitled to sit higher up at state dinner tables than the wife of the Speaker of the House.

Speaker Garner's alleged reluctance to accept the second place on the Democratic ticket indicates a personal sacrifice on his part and the vice-presidency with its presidency of the Senate is indeed generally regarded as a sinecure in comparison to the powerful position of presiding over the House of Representatives. But as the wife of the Speaker Mrs. Garner has made no claim to social precedence. It was the wife of former Speaker Longworth who raised that issue. Now, how she is to grasp herself into the ornamental role—it comes to that—in exchange for the interference of military duties with her pursuit of the arts. His wife, Grand Duchess Maria Pavlovna Sr. belonged to the Gortchakov family of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. Her brother Friedrich married my sister Anastasia.

UNCLE ALEXIS, Grand Duke Alexis Alexandrovich, was admitted to be the best-looking man in the imperial family, although I am afraid his tremendous weight would have handicapped him with the modern girls. A man of the world to his finger tips, a Beau Brummell and a bon vivant hopelessly spoiled by Washington, D. C., he traveled a great deal. The necessity of spending a year in Paris would have caused him to resign his post. He had a post, strange as it may seem, he was the Grand Admiral of the Russian Navy. His knowledge of naval affairs could not have been more limited. The very mention of the pending naval reforms brought a hostile frown on his handsome face. Not interested in anything that did not pertain to love-making, food and liquor, he invented a convenient way of staging his weekly conferences with the Admirals. He invited them to dinner in his palace, and after the Napoleon brandy would find its way into the stomachs of the appreciative guests, the host would open the naval conferences with a story going back to the antediluvian days of the sailing ships. Each time I sat at his table, I heard him repeat the self-same recital of the shipwreck of the frigate Alexander Nevsky which occurred many years ago on the rocks of the Danish coast, near Skagen. I learned by heart every detail of this involved narrative and took the precaution of moving my chair a few inches away just at the moment when, according to the scenario, Uncle Alexis had to bring his fist down on the table, exclaiming in a thundering voice: "And only then, my friends, did the bloody Captain recognize the silhouette of the rock of Skagen!" Tragedy marred the end of this joyful existence: disregarding all signs of the approaching war with Japan, the Grand Admiral continued his round of revels, waking one morning to find that our fleet encountered a crushing defeat in the battle with the modern dreadnoughts of the Mikado. Shortly afterwards his post and died shortly afterwards. His wife, a case of fast women and slow ships.

the time the campaign was over, I had acquired a lot of assurance in my own ability to help him in his work.

"By the time he was re-elected the first time, I had become accustomed to acting as his secretary. Moreover, we were boarding, our son was in school and I wanted something to do. At the end of four years I was beginning to know my job, I liked the work and hated to think of putting someone else in my place. So we put it off. The idea of having a new secretary grew less agreeable each succeeding election. Finally it ceased to concern us. I had become a fixture."

Whereas in those early days before there was a House office building, the young Congressman and his wife did their work in their boarding-house rooms, now-days with his steady rise and increasing duties, Mrs. Garner is in charge of a large office force and so busy that they don't even take time out for lunch. They send out for sandwiches and it is a common sight to see the Speaker joining his wife at coffee, which she brews on her own desk.

SPEAKER and MRS. GARNER on their way to the White House for dinner.

"When I first began my feeble efforts at being a secretary," she writes, "Mr. Garner had to dictate each word of a letter. Today he merely reads a letter and says, 'Tell this man such and such.' I build a complete letter from one sentence. Through years of close association I have learned to use his language. Often I say I know just the right word to use in the right place. I read and sort all the letters and distribute them for answering. The details of our own district I take care of myself. The folks out there know it and give me more credit than I deserve."

NOR has she neglected her domestic duties. Moving from that first boarding house into a four-room apartment she developed a housekeeping system, which dovetailed smoothly with her office work. She kept a maid but looked after the economy of things by going early to market three times a week, often before full daylight. She made it a rule always to be home when her son returned from school so long as he was in the grades. As office work increased and when the boy, Tully Fuller, enlisted in the war in 1917, they gave up housekeeping, sent their furniture back to Texas, disposed of their automobile and since have resided in a hotel. "We do not deserve credit for the economy and simplicity with which we live today," writes Mrs. Garner. "It is the normal result of our early life."

As Ellie Rheiner, daughter of a rancher who emigrated to Southwest Texas from Switzerland, she grew up on a ranch 25 miles from their present home in Uvalde. She was sternly drilled by a step-mother in all the household tasks and arts. She went to the district school taught by "the best of teachers, Mr. Meserve."

"The life we lived on the frontier in my youth and in the early

MRS. GARNER SAYS—

The economy and simplicity with which we live today is the normal result of our early life.

I have no independent political convictions. I don't consider that I know enough about the big subjects to have valuable opinions.

I believe a woman, no matter how strong her husband is, mold him unconsciously.

It is better for a man to mold his wife's opinions than for her to mold his. If a woman has independent ideas she ought to give them up.

In pre-war administrations entertaining was less restrained. I think that neighborly way was better than the remote formal manners of the present time.

may have been engendered by Mrs. Garner herself. "I am a woman with old-fashioned ideas," she writes. "They have served me well. I have no independent political convictions. I don't consider that I know enough about the big subjects to have valuable opinions. If my husband were out of political life, I should retreat to my own fireside and never have anything to do with political affairs again. I usually agree with my husband. I have always found him just. It is, of course, impossible to have lived 37 years with a man in politics and not have plenty of ideas. Sometimes I have differed with him. Then he has shown me my error and how matters would work out if done my way. We women can't see every point of a question as a man does. He gets out among men as a woman never can. I don't believe she should."

"I believe a woman, no matter how strong her husband is, mold him unconsciously, unnoticed by herself or him. I realized many years ago that I had an unfortunate habit of summing up personalities to result. If her ideas conflict with her husband's decided ones, I am good at siding them up. After a bit I noticed that sooner or later Mr. Garner would be holding or reflecting my opinion of them. So I am always careful now to say nothing. It's better for a man to mold his wife's opinion than for her to mold his. If a woman has independent ideas, she ought to give them up. At least she ought to cease discussion of them if her husband's decided. If her ideas conflict with her husband's decided ones, she must never tell them. That's another case of airing your own wash on the public line. I think it's dangerous."

"I have found my life with its basis of wifehood and motherhood deeply satisfying. That it has taken me into the realm of public affairs in the wake of my husband has made it as interesting as it has been arduous."

"But I am always aware of our rambling house at home, set in a seven-acre lot in the middle of the town; the pecan trees; my son, snugly settled with his wife and child in his own home on our land, the cooking, the visiting with neighbors, the homeliness and do-mesticity which is at the core of our lives."

WHEN Mrs. Dolle Gann was in St. Louis she told this writer that there never was an evening when she and Brother Charlie did not attend or preside at some social function. There were not enough days in the calendar to permit their taking advantage of all the social attractions. Mrs. Garner, on the other hand, writes: "I have given up entertaining entirely. It has been several years since I gave a party. I do not believe official entertaining is obligatory. I think Alice Longworth proved that. We now attend regularly only two official functions a year, the President's dinner to the Speaker and the dinner in honor of the Speaker and his wife by the Congressional Club."

However, she tells of how in the first few years of moderate leisure she did enjoy social life.

"I was able to finish my office work in a few hours. Then I had ample time for sight-seeing, calling and other social pleasures. "Actually these pleasures were few, although I thought the social calendar crowded and magnificent. I can smile now at the serious way in which I studied the book in which were revealed the social laws, on whom I should call and who must call on me. Life was simple then. A party was a rare thing, something to be anticipated. Bride was in its earliest infancy. Calling was our great occupation. I used to enjoy the social life, although after about 10 years it began to grow for me. I always had tea in my parlor. Afternoon teas formed our most important daytime functions. We did not have the elaborate luncheon parties of today, at which richly decked tables until time for their next engagement. Tea parties were always home parties."

Then she offers an opinion which may be a prophecy of the manner in which she will rise to the occasion socially if called upon to do so, although at the time of writing she was expressing her idea of how the First Lady rather than the Second Lady should assume this leadership.

"IN pre-war administrations entertaining was less restrained. I think that neighborly way was better than the remote, formal manners of the present time. I liked it. I think it would engender a comfortable, friendly feeling to have the First Lady occasionally call up a few women, wives of Senators and Representatives, and informally invite them to lunch or tea. Such small spontaneous gatherings, talking without regard for conventional formality, would bring about closer relations between the law-makers and the White House. Every man wants his wife to be happy. Every woman naturally is delighted by intimate parties in high places. Such informal tactics would not change a single vote, but Congressmen and Senators would be pleased. There would be a relaxation of attitude which would make it easier for them to get together. It's possible and isn't it desirable to have an old-fashioned neighborly feeling among the members of the governing body? But to get close to people you have to get down off your stilts."

If you ask my Opinion
—Martha Carr—

DEAR MRS. GARR: Please help me. I am fond of children, chickens, flowers and garden. I can do any kind of housework, am a good cook and laundress. I am a widow, 45, and have no near relatives. I would work for small wages. But all this doesn't do me any good—I simply cannot get any work. I am despondent and if it were not for my religion I would end it all.

POINSETTIA.

I know there is much discouragement in present conditions; but you've got to carry on, just the same. We sometimes cannot understand why efficient people and good workers go unnoticed, but the safe thing to do, both for your state of mind and for the possibility of getting some work, is to keep up the round as energetically as your physical strength will allow. I suppose you have advertised, and answered them. There are people always watching these things for ability and energy. And particularly they find it hard to get combined with education and nice feeling, such as your letter shows. I suppose you have availed yourself of the acquaintance at the corner drug store and grocery, downtown at the various counters where you have dealt; in other words, lose no chance of letting everyone you know understand that you are looking for a job. And do not scorn the delivery boys and the ash man. All of them have connections that might turn out to be a chance for you. The agencies, although they say they are overwhelmed, must have inquiries for your particular type, even if the numbers of applicants are beyond placing.

DEAR MRS. GARR: I am 17 years old and go with a girl 16. I met her four months ago and liked her the minute I met her. She also liked me. The first month we got along fine. But all we do now is fight. At times she is so sweet and acts as if she still likes me, and then again she's so mean it seems to me she hates the sight of me. We used to go out and have a good time, but I ask her to go out now she always refuses. How can I win her back so she will be sweet and not sarcastic?

Do you think it is proper for a girl to work in a grocery store, drive a truck and deliver the orders?

K. R. J.

Probably have time to look up that word "coquette." If you do, you will find your friend described. You know they "show heat and blow cold" and are altogether the plague of their adorers—but they like them. Probably she is watching out of the "tail of her eye," so to speak, for your demonstrations of misery whenever she "acts up" and is enjoying her power to sway your emotions. But don't let her enjoy it too long. Try to see the charm in the girl across the way or the next door but one. Even if your eyes remain blind to this, make her think they are wandering in that direction.

There is nothing improper about the job if she is husky enough.

MY DEAR MRS. GARR: Will you tell me how to join the Meramec River Patrol? Tell me where I can go to pass the test?

He spoke and in the room snapped in that direction.

Julie couldn't speak sitting for her?

He nearly succeeded. "Big me under," he was sorry you didn't tell me your two things, Julie, for her voice, and she was for the chair with her support. "I'm sorry."

He laughed, but wasn't a mirthful chuckle. "Why? Why for her? Why was he at her? The slight heavy again. "That do you want?"

Well, I sent you two things, Julie, of advice which you need and second, a little gift. You'll appreciate the to the table that green box. Mother doesn't suppose you know that your name to the police on my part—don't simply didn't want scandal. The story of my life is quite me. Mother doesn't know and neither do I. I'm now—and the doctor of here in a week of the latest. None of the little incident. It's I'm being very Julie, calling it that."

Kind—, the girl moved at the green box, she loosely in his right hand.

KINDER than you. If I had died—I mean man, knew you would have given it to me. As it was, he waited that he is. Now I told you I needed it. He was with his fingers, and.
